French Probe Silence

Patrols Seeking Cause of Lull

HANOI (UP) — French patrols slogged out from Dien Bien Phu through knee-deep mud Friday to seek the cause of a lull which set off speculation that the Reds were holding the garrison hostage for bargaining at the Geneva conference.

Some military sources suggested that the Communist siege army could have overwhelmed Dien Bien Phu any time in the last two weeks. They suggested the decisive blow might have been withheld on orders from Moscow or Peiping to see what happened at Geneva.

The high command reported it was "quiet" at the fortress under siege for 49 days, an unprecedented announcement for the period.

Five raiding patrols, black faced and armed with harp guns, trench knives and grenades, stabbed out to nettle the Communists and bring back information.

One ranged more than a mile from the isolated southern outpost called Isabelle without drawing Communist gunfire.

In other sectors the patrols clashed sharply with Red forward positions, especially machine gun nests. They brought back more than a score of Viet Minh dead to check for papers which might provide clues to rebel intentions.

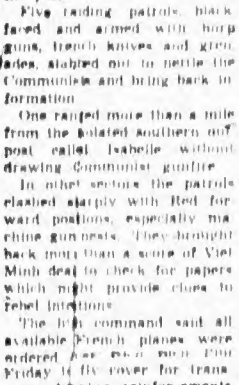
The high command said all available French planes were ordered Sat. p.m. and Sun. Friday to fly cover for transports dropping reinforcements and supplies to Brig.-Gen. Christian De Castries' garrison.

The blind effort was mounted because no drops were possible Thursday. The monsoon rain were arriving in full fury, drenching northern Indo China and turning the dust and clay of the mountain valley into a quagmire.

De Castries reported that some sticks were running low. At best it was hoarding ammunition for no more than three days of resistance to any full scale attack.

The aircraft carrier Bellean Wood, which flies the United States and manned by French crewmen arrived at Saigon Friday for France. It brought about a score of Helldiver and Hellcat dive planes for the hard-pressed air force. Later it will refile the carrier. Aircraft manches in Indo-Chinese waters.

Fortress



Though he had opportunity to leave Dien Bien Phu the beleaguered French fortress in Indo-Chi. Nurse Geneviève de Galard insisted on remaining to care for the wounded. None of the aided has been taken from the fortress for several weeks as Communist control of the airfields. (Central Press Canadian.)

'Probies' Awarded Caps

Capping ceremonies for the probationary class of nurses at Royal Jubilee Hospital were held last night. Here Marleen Brown of Creston, B.C., is capped by Miss L. Woodrow, director of nursing. Graduating class of 1954 will receive diplomas at graduating exercises at 8 p.m. Sunday in Royal Victoria Theatre, and all probationers not on duty at the time will be taken in buses to see the ceremonies in which they will share in 1957.

Cabinet Sets Up Saanich As Liquor License Area

Reeve Expresses Approval, Doubts Push for Plebiscite

BY RAY BAINES
Colonist Legislative Reporter

The Municipality of Saanich has been designated as a liquor license area along with four other Vancouver Island and 32 Mainland centres.

Other Island areas are Central Saanich, North Cowichan, Cumberland and Lake Cowichan.

Mainland centres designated ...

The designations were made on yesterday's cabinet order. Yesterday by cabinet order ... Also mentioned ... Merritt ... Esquimalt in the new list ... Coquitlam, Delta, Fraser Mills, Royce, Joseph Creek ... Langley, Maple Ridge, Mission.

Saanich said yesterday a few and Pat Meadows ...

"OUT OF SHORT PANTS"

"Why should such citizens ... have to go miles for a drink?" he said. "We have grown out of short pants."

He said he felt the Saanich council would not ask for a local option vote but would there be enough objection to the area to raise it to per cent petition.

"Saanich a largely residential municipality with a population of nearly 30,000 is in the unique position of having no hotels, people of clubs and so, therefore ineligible for lounge licenses (cocktail bars). At least one cabaret, however, could apply for a dining lounge license to sell liquor, and other establishments could get public house and dining room licenses."

MAY BE ONE OR TWO

Reeve Sydney Pickles of Central Saanich would not comment on the possibility of a local option vote in his municipality. He said he had heard that one or two licenses in the municipality may be sought.

Reeve Pickles said he would prefer to discuss the matter with his council before making any comment.

Drink Prices Shaping Up

City Budget Pared by $100,164 To Cut Mill Rate to 1953 Level

BY LAWRIE JOSLIN

City council has clipped $100,164 from the 1954 budget in an exhaustive two-day study of departmental expenditures.

And less than half a day through the tentative $7 million budget aldermen have already achieved savings which will leave the mill rate at last year's demand level and at the same time provide for:

- The possibility of having to pay 5 per cent wage increases to "Inside" and "outside" employees, a step which would cost some $18,000 or $6 of a mill.
- The possibility of having to make charitable grants up to the $25,000 limit approved by the electors last December. The provisional budget provides for charitable grants total ... only $17,500.
- The one-half mill increase in general expenditures called for by the 56½ mill provisional budget.

It all turns out that council does not increase its charitable grants or award pay increases ... the mill rate has already been cut to the 53 mill level.

MEET ON MONDAY

Aldermen will meet again at 10 a.m. Monday intend on find the additional savings which will reduce the mill rate further.

In a gruelling seven-hour afternoon and night session Thursday council sliced $83,291 from special expenditures of the parks and public works department and from the routine operating expenditures of the parks department.

The pruning continued yesterday afternoon when aldermen cut $18,870 from special and ordinary estimates of the street lighting department and from ordinary estimates of the public works department.

A special item calling for the spending of $... to install new street lighting equipment on Douglas Street from the Empress ... north to Johnson was reduced to $1... Another $1,2... project involving installation of ... ornamental lighting fixtures on ... Government Street from Belle ... to Herald was also ... in half.

OTHER SAVINGS

Savings totaling $... were made in ordinary estimates of the street lighting department.

Earning in the ordinary expenditures of the public works department ... clipped a total of $12,500.

Biggest cut ... $... was made from the $... fund ... for maintenance of paved streets.

This move brought strenuous objection from Ald. Arthur Dowell, public works committee chairman.

"It's false economy to cut these things too much," he declared.

Alderman Dowell said part of the trouble with streets today results from actions of councils of seven or eight years ago that "wanted to cut the mill rate regardless."

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, who favored the cut, declared that Victoria's streets compare favorably with those of any city.

"If you want to see some bad streets," he said, "go to Edmonton or Calgary."

FALSE ECONOMY

Ald. William Pinfold agreed with Alderman Dowell that it is "false economy to tamper with public works."

"In the long run you have to spend a bigger amount of money to keep them in shape," he said.

He opposed the cut by saying that it already appeared the mill rate could be kept at last year's level or even reduced. He added that he could show aldermen any number of streets needing repair.

Mayor Harrison objected to Alderman Pinfold's use of the word "tamper" in connection with public works.

Every alderman here is trying to do his best," he said.

"We still have to face a possible increase in wages," reminded Alderman Edgelow.

Stricken Area Widespread

Greek Quake Toll Rises

ATHENS (AP) — Greece's second major earthquake in less than a year brought shattering destruction and death to the central mountainous area Friday.

First official estimates said 147 were killed or injured and more than 25,000 made homeless. Hundreds of homes were shaken down like flimsy stacks of cards.

The stricken area apparently centred near the village of Granitsa, 135 miles northwest of Athens.

The town of Farsala was reported wiped out. The town is the site of the battle of Pharsalus in 48 BC when Julius Caesar routed Pompey the Great.

The town of Sofadhes also was reported destroyed.

Three-quarters of Trikkala a city of 27,800 was reported levelled.

Other towns hard hit were Kardhitsa, Lamia and Volos.

Damage was widespread in rural areas where hundreds of houses collapsed in a cloud of dust.

Tremors of "catastrophic violence" continued to shake parts of Thessaly late Friday.

Disaster appeared to reach from the east coast inland to mountain country accessible only by donkey trail. Communication and rescue work was made more difficult by the fact it was a religious holiday. All shops and public buildings were closed and no newspapers were publishing.

Interior Minister Ioannis Nicolitsias said the quake was comparable only to the one in the Ionian Islands last August which claimed 800 to 1,000 lives and left 120,000 persons homeless.

Photograph Alteration Explained

WASHINGTON (AP) — A McCarthy sub-committee aide took full responsibility Friday for a controversial cut-down photograph in the McCarran Peninsula hearings.

Climaxing a week-long row before television cameras, over the picture, Investigator James Juliana testified.

He supplied the inquiry with a November 17, 1953, photograph of Army Secretary Stevens side by side with Pte G. David Schine after ordering the deletion of an air force colonel who was in the picture as originally taken.

He did so because he understood although he had not been told, that special counsel Ray Jenkins, and McCarthy aide Roy Cohn, wanted a picture of Schine and Stevens only.

Steering Mechanism Of Chelan at Fault

VANCOUVER (CP) — A ... one a jury heard Friday that the shipwrecked tug Chelan was having difficulty with her steering mechanism and had not been inspected before sinking off the Alaska coast last February 19.

The jury was investigating the death of Frank Hickaway, one of the tug's 14 crew members who lost their lives off Point Decision.

James P. Moncrieff, a government steamship inspector, testified that his office had not been advised of changes in the Chelan's steering apparatus before she put out on her last cruise.

LETTER READ

A letter from the Chelan's 2nd officer, Richard Child, dated a few days before the tragedy, and sent in his wife was read into the record. It stated that the vessel was still having trouble with her steering.

Thomas Wilson Morgan, superintendent for Foss Launch, owners of the Chelan, testified that he had supervised the replacing of the tug's electrical steering with an hydraulic assisted mechanism just prior to the disaster.

David George Cox, former chief officer of the Chelan, testified that the vessel was sluggish and ... handled well, but that it had never had trouble with the ... steering mechanism during ... a Wrangell-to-Juneau ...

Royal Couple on Way To Reunion in Tobruk

ENTEBBE, Uganda (Reuters) — Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh left here by plane Friday night for Tobruk, Libya, to meet their two children for the first time since they began their tour of the British Commonwealth five months ago.

They flew in a British Overseas Airways Corporation Argonaut plane. The flight is a 10-hour one. The royal couple are to meet the children today.

Earlier Friday the couple visited the beautiful wilds of newly-opened Queen Elizabeth National Park in southwest Uganda.

Once during a launch trip in the park the vessel passed over a large hippopotamus submerged in shallow water. The royal party saw the mud churned up where it had dived.

CHILDREN ARRIVE

Prince Charles and Princess Anne sailed into Tobruk harbor from Malta Friday afternoon on the royal yacht Britannia. King Idris will present gifts to the royal family at his palace today.

Meanwhile at Gibraltar the Spanish consulate was closed to "avoid discourtesy" to Queen Elizabeth when she arrives May 10.

Plans for temporary closing of the consulate had been announced earlier by the Spanish foreign office after widespread Spanish agitation against the Queen's visit.

Fraser Holds Flood Threat

VANCOUVER (CP) — The slumbering Fraser River, which has twice risen to fear the economic heart from the farmers lining its banks, again looms as a threat this year.

And 250 miles east the Columbia, also rolling south lies as a silent menace as flood season approaches.

The key lies in the snow covering the mountains of central British Columbia snow heavy with an unusually high water content.

One of the coolest West Coast Aprils in years has hindered the run-off which must come gradually to allow for normal drainage of the snow fields.

Girl, 14, Unsnarls Traffic

A teenage girl stepped in where many motorists feared to drive Friday and untangled a budding traffic jam.

The traffic lights at Fort and Cook went out of commission about 8 p.m. The green light passing traffic up and down Fort refused to go on leaving Fort Street motorists sitting at the intersection while Cook Street traffic passed back and forth in the normal manner.

Margaret Wallace, 14, saw this, ran home and phoned the city police about the situation, then ran back and took over.

When traffic officers arrived Margaret was calmly passing traffic through the intersection with all the aplomb of a veteran police officer.

She stayed at her post until the officers had the light back in working order, then carried just long enough to give her name and age, but no address.

A girl has to be careful these days.

'Air Defenses Effective'

Claxton Doubts Raids Via Canada

An enemy would have to ... United States' potential," he ... choose some other route," ... rather said.

That fly over Canada to attack ... "Neither the States nor Canada can think of any way to improve the defense arrangements between the two countries," he added.

The United States Defence Minister Brooke Claxton said yesterday in an interview in Esquimalt ...

"BEST POSSIBLE"

"Because tests of Canada's air defenses have proved even more effective than expected, I think the enemy would have to take those into consideration," the minister said.

The minister inspected HMC ... Stadacona and HMCS Naden yesterday morning and inspected cadets at graduation ceremonies at Royal Roads in the afternoon. He left for Ottawa by plane last night.

The first objective of an enemy of war should come ... would be to knock out the ... bases.

Nobody concerned with defense ever uses the word "adequate" to describe defenses, he said, but he indicated that defense authorities in both countries are satisfied that the present working arrangement is the best one possible.

Enlistment in Canada's three armed forces is up to the government's expectations, he said.

"There are about 20,000 Canadians serving abroad in seven countries and one out of every four is a veteran of Korea," he said.

NO PROSPECTS

The minister said there has been no recent change in the attitude of the defense department toward Esquimalt's demands for rebuilding Admiral Road which is used largely by navy vehicles, according to Esquimalt council.

"Every province in Canada has asked for its cut of this," he said. "But as far as I know we have never paid for roads except those essential to defense.

"Circumstances would have to be extraordinary before my department could consider paying for roads."

Talks on Canada United States defense will be held in Washington next week by the defense minister and U.S. officials.

Mr. Claxton said he will make the trip with Governor-General Vincent Massey May 3.

Mr. Massey will make the state visit to President Eisenhower as a return gesture for the visit to Ottawa of the U.S. chief executive. Mr. Claxton said he will mix business with the ceremonial side of the trip and talk with U.S. Defense secretary Wilson and his colleagues.

Aborigine Bows to Bombers

Posse Proves Persuasive

DARWIN, Australia (Reuters) — An Australian jail breaker decided this week that when the long arm of the law closes in with droves of fighter planes blazing away with machine-guns and flights of bombers showering high explosives, it's time to give up.

An aborigine killer, who has been a fugitive from justice for two years, is back in jail here because he got mixed up in an air force exercise which he mistook for the greatest manhunt in the nation's history.

Jackie Brilayang, sentenced to 12 years for a killing during a reservation fight in 1951, had escaped from Darwin's Fanny Bay jail two years ago.

But apparently he thought the police were getting too tough when his hiding place in the remote wilds of northern Australia echoed to the rattle of machine-guns and, the roar of bombs as the air force began to use this apparently deserted stretch of country as a target.

Jackie ran and kept running until he reached the main north south road across Australia and sent a message to the police to come and get him.

Boxcars Go to Line's End—and Farther

An unscheduled trip was taken by 20 boxcars loaded with grain at Port Arthur, Ont., when their couplings were broken and they rolled down a track leading to the water's edge. Three cars plunged into the lake, a fourth hung suspended off the end of the dock and four other cars were overturned on the tracks. Police are seeking two boys who are believed to have broken the couplings which caused $20,000 damage when the cars were set in motion.—(Central Press Canadian.)

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

WHY do people wait until the last day or later to file their tax returns? There is one of the small problems of human behavior.

I suppose they do it for the same reason that a woman waits until she gets to the wicket in a bank, post office or movie lineup before opening her purse and fishing for her money in the assorted trash.

Waiting until the last minute is not exclusively a female trait.

The other Saturday I left my car keys in a dry cleaning shop, and someone kindly phoned to tell me so. I had all day to pick the keys up—so I forgot about them until after closing time.

Then I telephoned all over town for the manager, in the hope that he would come down and open the store. I couldn't find him. So I had to drive home with a friend and leave the car where it was.

On Sunday afternoon the manager, looking none too pleased, opened the place, found the keys and enabled me to get back my deserted car.

So when I sneer at people who leave things until the last minute, I am sneering at myself.

Victoria bankers are a colorful crew. Ken W. Brown is manager of the Oak Bay branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. Sheldon A. Black is assistant manager of the main branch of the Bank of Montreal. Andrew B. White is manager of the main branch of the Royal Bank.

Miss Evelyn Greene is supervisor of routine at the main branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

And when people ask for an unsecured loan, bankers have been known to see red.

A device known as "Blab-off" for eliminating television commercials is on the market in Victoria.

A wire leads from the set to somebody's armchair. As soon as an animated cigarette package dances on the screen, or an announcer bobs up with a bottle of hair tonic, the controller presses a button. Zingo! Blessed silence.

Scientists (I hope) are now working on a device that enables a viewer to press a button and blow up the transmitter.

My Siamese cat, Mau-mau, currently appearing on stage at the Totem in "Bell, Book and Candle," is fast learning the tricks of the theatre.

He knows how to steal scenes by wriggling around and uttering lines that are not in the play. As he nestles in Rosemary Malkin's arms (she plays the part of a witch and the cat is her "familiar") he utters cries that can be heard at the back of the house. And he seems to utter them in the right places.

The reason for this may be that spring is here, but I suspect that the cat is a natural-born ham.

His claws, which are cougar-size and as sharp as razors, have been pared down to save Rosemary from being wounded.

He has his own dressing-room, but during performances he lives in a carrying-box to make sure that he doesn't miss a cue. Liver seems to be his chief item of diet. They feed him an hour before the curtain, to make sure that he is well-behaved—a manoeuvre that does not seem to be succeeding too well.

I don't know whether I will be able to afford to keep him when he comes home with all those expensive tastes.

Playing the part of the witch's accomplice, Pyewacket by name, he is meant to appear spooky, and I must say he fits the part very well. All Siamese cats have a supernatural look. One day, I expect, Mau-mau will dissolve in a cloud of blue smoke.

Eat and Grow Younger

Avoid Age in Bones, Muscles

This is one of a series of daily articles from the best-selling book, "Eat and Grow Younger," which provides invaluable information on nutrition, and one of the simplest and most effective diets. By following the tenets set out here, you can literally eat and grow younger.

BY LELORD KORDEL

A few years ago, while I was in New York on a lecture tour, I attended a stage performance of a celebrated matinee idol—an actor whose masculine charms have had the ladies sighing and yearning for more years than said idol would publicly admit.

In this particular play, he was portraying the role of an intrepid young explorer.

"He certainly holds his age well," was my first thought, "even discounting all the make-up tricks."

But just then, at an off-stage cue, this apparently well-preserved actor was supposed to leap up from the log and rush to greet an oncoming actor. Yet the best our young-looking matinee idol could manage was a creaky elevation of his stiff body to an upright position. Instantly all illusion of youth was shattered. No toupee or make-up could hide the age in this actor's bones and muscles!

It has always been more or less "accepted" among doctors and patients that the bones in the human body become brittle and more fragile with age. This is false.

What are the food elements essential to healthy bones?

Most commonly recognized nutrients are calcium and phosphorous, since we know that our bones are composed mainly of these two minerals.

Powdered skim milk, and the various kinds of cheese, particularly cottage cheese, are reliable sources of food calcium, as is sunflower seed meal. Lean meat and eggs are other good sources of calcium as well as protein. Phosphorous, the other "bone mineral" is likewise found in milk, cheese, eggs and lean meat, fish and poultry.

But all the calcium-rich foods and the balanced mineral concentrate you take are not going to do your bones—or the other calcium-craving organs in your body—much good if that calcium cannot reach the bloodstream to be distributed where needed.

Another little-known chemical process that may keep you starved for calcium, despite your conscientious efforts to provide ample quantities of this mineral in your diet, is the use of cocoa and chocolate. Both these foods interfere with the body's absorption of calcium and phosphorus to such a degree that it's an absolute waste of the precious [illegible] to eat them or milk to prepare them with either chocolate or cocoa.

As mentioned in earlier chapters, the digestive acids in a normal stomach are composed mainly of hydrochloric acid. It takes the action of strong hydrochloric acid to dissolve calcium from foods that reach the stomach so this mineral may be assimilated through the intestinal walls into the blood-stream.

There are two ways in which to increase the concentrated acidity of your digestive juices. First by having your stomach acids tested by a reliable physician, who may then prescribe so many drops of dilute hydrochloric acid to be taken in water with every meal, and second, by adding liberal quantities of vitamin B-complex to your diet, since this group of B-vitamins greatly influences the flow and acidity of your stomach juices.

No mention of calcium and phosphorus for the bones is complete without including vitamin D, the "sunshine vitamin."

If you live in a climate where it's possible to be outdoors in the sunshine throughout most of the year, then you need not worry about getting enough vitamin D, since this element is created by the direct action of sunshine on certain oils in your skin. But if you reside, as most people do, in climates where heavy clothing and indoor living are necessary during six months or so of the year, then you should be supplemented during those indoor months by a good vitamin concentrate containing a correctly controlled amount of vitamin D.

CHAPTER X
THE GREAT AGRA TREASURE

Our captive sat in the cabin opposite to the iron box for which he had done so much and waited so long to gain. He was a sunburned fellow, with a network of lines and wrinkles all over his mahogany features, which told of a hard, open-air life. There was a singular prominence about his bearded chin which marked a man who was not to be easily turned from his purpose. His age may have been fifty or thereabouts, for his black, curly hair was thickly shot with grey. His face in repose was not an unpleasing one, though his heavy brows and aggressive chin gave him, as I had lately seen, a terrible expression when moved to anger. He sat now with his handcuffed hands upon his lap, his head sunk upon his breast, while he looked with his keen, twinkling eyes at the box which had been the cause of his ill-doings. It seemed to me that there was more sorrow than anger in his countenance. Once he looked up at me with a gleam of something like humor in his eyes.

"Well, Jonathan Small," said Holmes, lighting a cigar, "I'm sorry that it has come to this."

"And so am I, sir," he answered, "I don't belive that I can swing over the job, I give you my word on the Book that I never raised a hand against Mr. Sholto. It was that little hell-hound, Tonga, who shot one of his cursed darts into him. I had no part in it, sir. I welted the little devil with the slack end of the rope for it, but it was done, and I could not undo it again."

"Have a cigar," said Holmes; "and you had best take a pull out of my flask, for you are very wet. How could you expect so small a man as this tiny fellow to overpower Mr. Sholto and hold him while you were climbing the rope?"

"You seem to know as much about it as if you were there, sir. The truth is that I hoped to find the room clear. I knew the habits of the house pretty well, and it was the time when Mr. Sholto usually went down to his supper. I shall make no secret of the business. The best defense that I can make is just the simple truth. Now, if it had been the old Major I would have swung for him with a light heart. I would have thought no more of knifing him than of smoking this cigar. But it's cursed hard that I should be lagged over this young Sholto, with whom I have no quarrel whatever."

Small paused and Holmes said, "You are under the charge of Mr. Athelney Jones, of Scotland Yard. He is going to bring you up to my rooms, and I shall ask you to make a clean breast of it. If you do, I may be of use to you. I think I can prove that the poison acts so quickly that the man was dead before ever you reached the room."

"That he was, sir. I never got such a turn in my life as when I saw him grinning at me with his head on his shoulder as I climbed through the window. It fairly shook me, sir. I'd have half killed Tonga for it if he had not scrambled off. That was how he came to leave his club, and some of his darts too, as he tells me, which I dare say helped to put you on our track; though how you kept on it is more than I can tell." Jonathan smiled bitterly and added, "But it does seem a queer thing that I, who have a fair claim to half a million of money, should spend the first half of my life building a breakwater in the Andamans, and am like to spend the other half digging drains at Dartmoor. It was an evil day for me when first I clapped eyes upon the merchant Achmet, and the Agra treasure which never brought anything but a curse upon the man who owned it. To him it brought murder, to Major Sholto it brought fear and guilt, to me it has meant slavery for life."

At this moment Athelney Jones thrust his broad face and shoulders into the tiny cabin, remarking, "Quite a family party! I think I shall have a pull at that flask, Holmes. Well, I think we may all congratulate each other. Pity we didn't take the nigger alive, but there was no choice. I say, Holmes, you must confess that you cut it rather fine. It was all we could do to overhaul her."

"All is well that ends well," said Holmes. "But I certainly did not know that the Aurora was such a clipper."

"Smith says she is one of the fastest launches on the river, and that if he had had another man to help him with the engines we should never have caught her. He swears he knew nothing of this Norwood business."

"Neither he did," cried our prisoner. "not a word. I chose his launch because I heard she was a flier. We told him nothing, but we paid him well, and he was to get something handsome if we reached our vessel, the Esmeralda, at Gravesend, outward bound for the Brazils."

"Well, if he has done no wrong we shall see that no wrong comes to him. If we are pretty quick in catching our men, we are not so quick in condemning them." It was amusing to notice how the consequential Jones was already beginning to give himself airs on the strength of the capture. From the slight smile which played over Sherlock's face, I could see that the speech had not been lost upon him.

"We will be at Vauxhall Bridge presently," said Jones, "and shall land you, Dr. Watson, with the treasure box. I need hardly tell you that I am taking a very grave responsibility upon myself in doing this. It is most irregular, but of course an agreement is an agreement. I must, however, as a matter of duty, send an inspector with you, since you have so valuable a charge. It is a pity there is no key, so we could make an inventory first. You will have to break it open. Where is the key?"

"At the bottom of the river," said Small.

"Hum! There was no use your giving this unnecessary trouble. We have had work enough already through you. However, Doctor, I need not warn you to be careful. Bring the box back with you to the Baker Street rooms. You will find us there, on our way to the station."

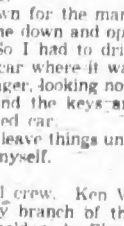
Sudden Frosts Danger in May



BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Although May, with its glorious pageantry of spring blooms, is the loveliest month in the garden calendar, it can also be the most trying from the gardener's point of view. It is the first week of May when early morning frosts, sudden and devastating, occasionally swoop down to do enormous damage to young, succulent growth.

These late frosts have struck the area in and around Victoria as late as May 9, so the wise gardener will keep an ear cocked to the late evening weather forecasts, and will have a supply on hand of brushwood, straw, old sheets and curtains, bushel baskets and similar protection for the more tender subjects in the garden. Usually, such frosts strike when the weather is fine and the sky cloudless.

BEAN GROUND

One of the jobs which should be undertaken this week end is the preparation of the ground for the first sowing of beans. As the bean seeds require a fairly warm soil before they will germinate, the actual sowing can wait for another week, but to get a maximum crop from a limited space, some work should be put in on the site now.

Because of the dry spells we get through the summer, I prefer to grow my beans in shallow trenches, so they can be irrigated with the hose without any waste of precious water, and without wetting the foliage. I take out a trench as wide and as deep as the blade of my old long-handled shovel, and put in it a four-inch layer of old, rotted compost or manure.

The trench is filled to within an inch of the top with good topsoil and given a dressing of hydrated lime—¼ cupful to the running yard of trench, and a sprinkling of bone meal, the whole being mixed thoroughly into the top three inches of soil.

DOUBLE ROW

By next Saturday, the soil will have settled another inch, leaving it right for sowing. I grow a double row of beans in each trench, so I make two drills six inches apart and two inches deep. The seeds are spaced six inches apart, and before sowing, the drills are watered with soluble fertilizer, one tablespoonful to the gallon.

While some authorities frown upon the practice, I like to soak my bean seeds overnight before sowing. I put them in a rather shallow dish and believe it or not, cover them with BOILING water right out of the kettle. Don't worry, in a shallow dish, the water doesn't stay at boiling temperature for more than a few seconds, but I think I kill off a lot of seed-borne diseases this way, and the shock seems to help the seed germinate quickly.

SPREAD PLANTING

If you have no home freezer or frozen food locker, it is best to spread the bean cropping season over the longest possible time, so you can enjoy fresh-picked beans without any gluts. To this end, it is a good idea to make a succession of small sowings every three weeks until the end of July. For my family, I find 30 feet of trench for each sowing is about right.

When the vines start to crop, it is most important to keep the beans picked, for if one single pod is left on a plant to produce ripe seed, that plant will figure its purpose in life is accomplished, and will pack up and quit. It is necessary, therefore, to look underneath the leaves and see that no pods are missed. Use both hands to pick each pod, or you'll damage the parent vine.

Langford Fair Body To Consider Float

LANGFORD—The Langford Fair Committee will meet at 8 p.m., Tuesday, in the Community Hall to discuss entering of a float in the May 24 celebration in Victoria.

Crucial Period Near in Talks; Tension Eases

GENEVA (CP)—In a slightly eased atmosphere, delegates to the Far East conference Friday night made plans for a series of critical week-end meetings which could make or break the talks.

External Affairs Minister Pearson, heading Canada's five-man delegation, said "it looks like an important week-end." These are among the possibilities:

1. An Asian initiative, possibly emanating from the meeting of Far East countries in Colombo, Ceylon, which may transform the present state of near-deadlock on Indo-China.

2. A compromise agreement designed to get negotiations on Korea "down to cases." Briefly, Western delegates are hopeful of reaching agreement among themselves on some plan for partitioned Korea which the Communists might find hard to reject.

NOMINAL HOLIDAY

In Friday's plenary session at the Palais des Nations, two more general speeches on Korea were made, by Thailand's Prince Wan Waithayakon and Turkey's Cevat Acikalin. Today's full session has been cancelled, officially because of the Swiss national holiday, and final declarations in the general debate will be made Monday.

The official holiday will mean no respite for delegations of the 19 countries represented here, now winding up their first week of work. Instead, there will be even greater activity behind the scenes.

The Indo-Chinese problem, which has haunted the conference from the outset, appeared Friday night to be viewed by Western delegates in a slightly calmer mood. A crisis spirit existed last week end, when it was feared that the French [illegible] Dien Bien Phu might fall within hours.

PANIC SUBSIDES

Now, although loss of the French stronghold is regarded as a virtual certainty, the sense of panic is less noticeable. It has been replaced to some extent by a feeling of resentment on the part of the Americans, who feel they have been isolated by their Western Allies.

The Americans pressed for some decisive counteraction in Indo-China, but Britain, strongly backed by other Western countries including Canada, took a much more cautious position.

Delegates talked of a possible offer from the meeting of Asian powers in Colombo. These are India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Burma and Indonesia.

OPPOSE CEASE-FIRE

This Asian initiative would presumably embody ideas in the Indo-Chinese peace plan advanced last week by India's Prime Minister Nehru. The French oppose a straight cease-fire in Indo-China but might be interested in an armistice under certain conditions.

Although the United States would look askance at Indo-Chinese proposals put forward by India alone, they could be expected to be more amenable if the overture had the collective support of five Far East countries.

The Canadian delegation is hopeful that formal talks on Indo-China may start in a few days.

Growers Fight To Save Fruit

VANCOUVER (CP)—Smoke curled up through the blossoming branches of British Columbia fruit trees last night as growers fired up in an attempt to save what they can of the crop.

Unseasonable frost, lying heavy over the orchards of the Okanagan Valley, has destroyed up to 95 per cent of the cherry, apricot and peach crops in some areas. Last year's crop brought growers $17,500,000.

Hardest hit was the southern area, source of much of the famed Okanagan soft fruit crop, 200 miles east of here.

John Smith, supervising horticulturist at Kelowna, said Friday that the cherry crop was hardest hit, with apricots and peaches close behind.

SEVERE LOSS

Mr. Smith said he would hesitate to estimate the cash loss, but damage in the southern area was "severe."

The north is primarily an apple-growing section, he said, and since the trees were not yet in full bloom, the district had escaped comparatively lightly.

Even Aklavik on the Arctic Ocean was warmer than some parts of B.C. Thursday night, and more of the same was forecast for last night.

Aklavik had a minimum of 17 above, compared with 11 above at Prince George.

RECORDS FALL

Records for April 30 were shattered as Vancouver's air temperature skidded to 31 above. Abbotsford in the Fraser Valley hit 27 above and Kamloops registered 17. Penticton, another fruit-growing centre, was 22 above.

Penticton district horticulturist Maurice Trenpour estimated a 95-per-cent loss in stone fruits in low areas and Vernon district agriculturist William Baverstock predicted that the cherry, pear, apricot and peach crops in his area would be "wiped out."

A. K. Lloyd, president of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., at Kelowna, said there would "probably be a considerable loss" and Dr. T. H. Anstey, superintendent of the experimental station at Summerland, said the loss "will certainly run into hundreds of thousands of dollars."

Decision On Tariff Overruled

OTTAWA (CP)—The tariff board has overruled the revenue department's decision to more than double the tariff on imports of canned fruit salads and fruit cocktails.

The controversy arose out of complaints by Canadian producers that imports, mostly from the U.S., are injuring the domestic market for the Canadian industries.

Imports of canned peaches bear a tariff of 2½ cents a pound, while canned pears are charged 2 cents.

But importers maintained that since fruit salads and cocktails are mixtures of fruits, they should be classified as "fruits, not otherwise provided" and bear a charge of 1 cent.

The revenue department first agreed, and charged 1 cent a pound. Canadian producers complained, and the department ruled that since the main fruit in the mixtures was peaches, the tariff should be 2½ cents.

Then an importer spoke up and the tariff board acted.

MOST POISONOUS

Mushrooms of the Amanita group cause more deaths than all other poisonous mushrooms combined. No antidote is known for their poison, the chemical action of which is not understood.

Dulles Returning For 'Crisis' Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dulles' imminent return to Washington from the Geneva conference probably will bring to a head a crisis inside the government over how strong a policy the United States should have toward Indo-China.

Dulles has been at the Geneva conference, where Indo-China peace negotiations are the critical issue, only a week. He has decided to leave there Monday and return to Washington Tuesday. Undersecretary of state Walter Bedell Smith will replace him as chief U.S. delegate in negotiations with the Communists.

INNER CONFLICT

Diplomatic informants concede that Dulles is returning to a government divided in its councils and frustrated, for the moment at least, in some of its major purposes regarding the conflict with communism in Southeast Asia.

There are fears here that the Russians may score successes in their drive to weaken the Western alliance, with resulting setbacks not only in the protection of Southeast Asia against communism but also in the organization of Western Europe for its own security. A major aim of Soviet policy is the defeat of the European Defense Community.

When Dulles left Washington for Geneva 10 days ago the United States was speaking with a strong and even threatening voice on Indo-China.

Since that time several things have happened:

- Talk of possible use of U.S. forces in Indo-China has stirred up considerable opposition at home.
- The British government ruled against any participation in Indo-China action pending the Geneva negotiations.
- The administration, tentatively at least, ruled out the French requested assignment of U.S. naval aircraft to the battle of Dien Bien Phu.
- President Eisenhower shifted emphasis from talk of the importance of Indo-China and the dangers of free world setbacks there, to talk of a "modus vivendi." He defined this a some practical way of getting along with the Communists.

Alice James Funeral Set

Funeral services for Alice James, 97, who died Thursday, will be held at 1.30 p.m. Monday.

Mrs. James had been a resident of Victoria since 1901. She came here from Newport, Isle of Wight, where she was born. She was a pioneer member of the Esquimalt Chapter No. 41, OES, and a member of St. Paul's Anglican Church.

She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. A. D. Ferris, 622 Head; two sons, William J. Etheridge, Chilliwack, and George E. Etheridge, in California.

Services will be held from Hayward's Funeral Home with Rev. J. A. Roberts officiating. Burial will be in Ross Bay Cemetery.

NORTHERN BISHOP

John Horden, first Anglican Bishop of Moosonee who died in 1893, translated the Gospel into Indian sign language.

Oddity

Publicity Commissioner George I. Warren and directors of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau take a dim view of a new leaflet issued by the Southern Pacific Line.

It boosts a "new, faster schedule to Vancouver," and reports the Southern Pacific Line is "proud to announce the beauty and charm of Vancouver, Capital of British Columbia, has been brought that much closer to travelers aboard the Cascade."

The Officers and Members of Victoria Aerie No. 12 Fraternal Order of Eagles are requested to attend the funeral of our late Brother Claud S. P. Brett to be held at McCall Brothers, Saturday, May 1, 1954, at 12.15 p.m.

Good News for Salt Spring

FEDERAL Public Works Minister Winters' announcement this week that funds will be forthcoming after all for construction of ferry landings at Crofton and Vesuvius Bay is good news for the people of Salt Spring Island and for the tourist trade generally. If this change of mind on the Dominion's part is due to Provincial Public Works Minister Gaglardi's powers of persuasion, his trip to Ottawa will have been worth while, even though it accomplished nothing else. From the wording of the announcement it appears that Mr. Winters and Mr. Gaglardi have come to see the provision of ferry terminals as a project to be undertaken jointly by the two governments, with private interests operating the ferry, as they have been ready to do for a long time.

An appropriation was included in the federal estimates a year ago for this work, but the money was not spent and, to the consternation of those who had gone ahead with the purchase and costly modification of a vessel, the construction project was dropped from the main estimates this year. Different versions have been given of the reason for the Dominion's backing away from a plan it had approved a year ago, but that is neither here nor there now that a new agreement has been reached.

It is most unfortunate nevertheless that there should have been a year's delay. Had it not been for Ottawa's on-again-off-again attitude the necessary landing facilities could have been completed by now, or at least by the start of the summer. As it is another tourist season is almost here, but the ferry service is not; nor is it likely to be during the months when it could be doing the most good. Much potential business for Salt Spring Island and the east coast of Vancouver Island will be lost thereby. In their jubilance over the decision to go ahead with the job the owners of the ferry say nothing about their own loss as a result of the delay, but that too must be considerable.

The main thing now is to get on with the job as quickly as the formalities at Ottawa will allow. According to the pile-driving companies in these parts there is ample skilled labor available, due to a lull in construction in their line. If construction is expedited it might even yet be possible for this alternative ferry route, making possible a scenically beautiful beltline tour, to be of service to tourists before the season is out.

City's Growing Pains

THE current city budget, or that portion of it which the mayor and council have condescended to lay before the public so far, is ample evidence of the growing pains of Victoria under population pressures not sustained in any comparable period for many years past. Nearly every regular service of the corporation will require more money. The higher payroll may account for some of that, but it is matched by the bill for supplies, services, carrying charges on debt and other items.

Making due allowance for growth in nearly every civic service under the conditions of the times, it would be a considerable achievement if the council were able to hold down the mill rate this year. On the other hand, if curtailment can only take place at the expense of needed services, it might easily prove to be a penny pinching policy. The obligations of the corporation as a whole have to be taken into account and seen in their perspective.

There are some things which Victoria City cannot well do without in the coming year. School accommodation must be found for hundreds of additional children, with the city bearing the lion's share of municipal costs in that. Parks and boulevards cannot be left to wither unwatered in the sun if the community is to keep up its name. Existing motor traffic on top of scheduled bus transit has taken a heavy toll of street surfacing; nor can this condition—often in the main downtown area—be ignored, because the city is under contract to the traction company to keep these streets in good repair. Storm drains and sewers are less visible needs, but not less vital in their own way.

In short, budgeting cannot stop at bookkeeping. There is much work that patently must be done if the city is not to slip back through physical neglect. Where roads are concerned what is neglected today may cost double to remedy later. The real task of the council will be to strike a balance between what is clearly essential and should not be deferred, and other projects which perhaps could wait for a while without damage to the community. If a balance can be struck without mill rate increase this year Victoria may consider itself very lucky.

It Must Be Paid For But...

DEFENSE MINISTER CLAXTON put the Canadian perspective in correct focus when he said in a public address this week that the H-bomb has not made the need for conventional weapons any the less. This country doesn't possess either an atomic or a hydrogen bomb but it does have an army, a navy and an air force and these must be kept up to the maximum strength possible. Hence the continuing high cost of defense, which is likely to run on for years ahead.

The one fact beyond all doubt these days is that weapons do cost large sums of money, even conventional weapons. Some $700,000,000 has been spent in the last four years for defense construction alone, and now vast sums are being set aside for new equipment. Insofar as that goes were Canada to make an H-bomb of its own from scratch the outlay would far exceed the current defense budget in its entirety. Canada cannot afford any nuclear extravagances, but she has to find the money for the more ordinary means of defense.

Most Canadian taxpayers realize the need for a large defense budget, even if the tax burden does seem oppressive. The times are out of joint and perilous, but no nation can risk being like a "sitting duck," to employ Mr. Claxton's own salutary phrase. The only worry the taxpayer has is in getting full value for his defense dollar. At best in any land the military machine is apt to be more prodigal than parsimonious; it spends money much more easily than it saves it. Emphasis on economy is not traditional with armed forces in the midst of expansion, yet it would be some offset for the taxpayer if at least periodically this note could be struck in ministerial announcements. Few will quarrel with the need for a Canadian defense budget even though, minus an H-bomb, but one continues to hope that prudence is exercised in distributing these hard-earned tax dollars.

Interpreting the News

Signs of Changing World

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
Associated Press News Analyst

IN a world full of the most serious tensions, at a time when who was responsible for whose picture being taken with whom is the chief question in Washington, despite these tensions, the subject on today's column may seem trivial.

Yet it involves formulae and principles, attitudes and signs of a changing world which are fundamental to consideration of some of man's most critical problems.

They've just held an election down in British Honduras the like of which has hardly if ever been seen before in Latin America.

* * *

You will recall that Britain has controlled what was once known as Belize for 300 years, since the days of the Spanish Main. It is a crown colony. There has been an independence movement. Its leaders have played no footsie with the Reds in neighboring Guatemala which still claims rights to the Honduran territory taken from her by Spain so long ago, and taken again by the British from Spain.

Britain devised a plan for extending greater self rule. The people were to send nine men to a legislative council.

In an election to which the British colonial system itself guaranteed freedom of choice, without any riots or other disturbances, the independence leaders won all but one elective seat, which went to a member of another party which calls itself independent, but which would maintain some ties with Britain.

Out of a population of 76,000 people of Indian and mixed Indian and European descent, 14,000 voted.

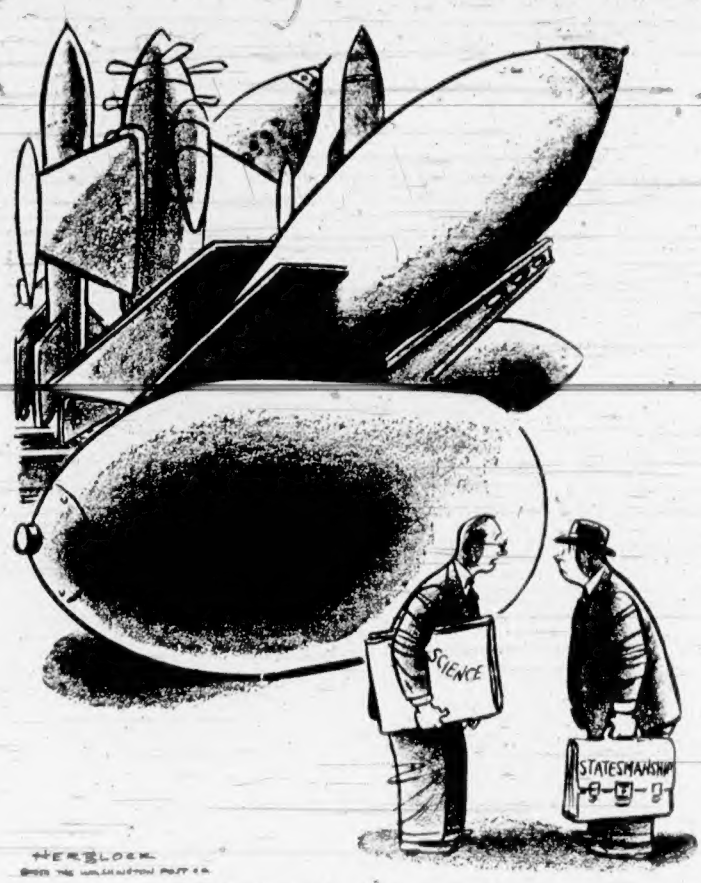
Communism in British Guina had succeeded merely in creating disturbance. In Honduras, democratic processes worked.

Instead of appointing half the council as heretofore, Britain now will appoint only three, and government officials will appoint three. Colonial authorities promised complete cooperation with the newly elected men who want to throw the British out.

Thus is the problem of nationalism worked out in a British crown colony.

The Gold Coast in Africa is a similar example of working away from colonialism.

In Asia, on the other hand, nationalistic movements tend to be taken over by the Communists. People and leaders alike frequently seem to be unaware that this infiltration into their independence movements promises them only an escape from a rapidly-lessening Western domination into complete and brutal subjugation. Nationalism becomes the tool by which people work out their own enslavement.



"And what's new with you?"

Topsy Turvy

Gerald Waring

By FRANK KELLEY

IT was not until the one-time romance-gemmed pelagic sealing industry was about to fade into a background of things which had become more or less a memory that townsman Max Lohbrunner, a young man then, "signed articles" for his first sealing cruise in the North Pacific. Even so, in sealing those last few years he acquired considerable knowledge of the greatly-depleted herds and habits of the fur-seal. As well, he became familiar with areas the new-born pups were left to survive in after the herds left the rookeries and did their annual vanishing act in the vasts of the great ocean, where "no man knew their path," until they reappeared again in the following spring off the California coast on the way to the breeding islands of Bering Sea.

* * *

In those latter years of what had been a lucrative industry for Victorians, the vessels Max Lohrunner sailed in were engaged in a more intensive search of the northern seas for the valuable peltries than had been the practice when the hunting was in its heyday and the spoils accummulated with lesser effort, providing better opportunities for studying the habits of the fur-bearers, which some of the seekers took advantage of when presented.

With the experience gleaned in those years and much more acquired as a commercial fisherman in northern waters since 1910, when Victorians quit sealing, the local ex-sealer probably possesses a wider knowledge of the fur-seal than most of the fraternity still living. He has never lost touch with the subject, maintaining interest through personal observation as well as contacts with fishermen who might encounter as many of them do, the north-migrating herds. He is apparently in constant receipt of information concerning out-of-the-ordinary happenings in the lives of the sleek fur-bearers.

* * *

It is not strange, therefore, that Max Lohbrunner recently fell heir to the emaciated remains of a 1953 pup seal, picked up by a fisherman at Becher Bay. Evidently dead of starvation, with its skin sticking close to its bones, the little seal, he tells me, is engaging the attention of local biologists. Some strange trends have been noted in certain areas of North Pacific waters during recent months.

A number of the same age seal pups in the same starved condition have been picked up on Long Beach and other places in that general area. As it is hard to account for the presence of these year-old pups on this coast, unheard of in former years, Mr. Lohbrunner believes something has happened in the North Pacific story of the fur-seal, as well as the Japan Current.

* * *

Last year's pups should not be so far south at this time of year, he contends. They should be in the area of the Outer Aleutians on what are known as the "pup grounds," where they remain when the parent seal vanish in their long swim southward, and where in former years there was always sufficient food for their needs. He reckons only something to do with the Japan Current can explain it. As he sees it, the current may have altered its course slightly or lost some strength, a phenomenon which might mean redistribution of food and maybe account for the particular brand of weather we have had this spring. If the latter, let us hope his surmising is all wrong. Were the Shiwo stream to change in any way our climate would undoubtedly follow suit.

Reports from Ottawa

ONE consolation in making out your income tax return is the knowledge that there are other people who are paying more than you.

Of course, there must be somebody in the country who pays more tax than anyone else. He probably has a pretty good idea, too, that he's Doc Abbott's No. 1 boy. But let us not waste our tears on him.

Another consolation is that there are so many of us in the same predicament at tax return time. The Abbott-McCann machine has its hooks into about three million of us to collect $1,280,000,000 in taxes on our 1953 earnings. That's the biggest tax take ever, and a natural result of our population growth and increased national and individual productivity.

* * *

The statisticians have calculated that the average taxpayer is married, has one and seven-tenths children, and earns between $3,000 and $3,500 a year, on which he pays a tax of about $186.

From your own calculations you now know whether you're above or below the national average. If you're above, well, you're one of the upper bracketeers who has been able to latch onto more of the world's goods than most of us. And if you're below you can latch yourself with the thought that you don't have to send Receiver-General Abbott as many hard-earned dollars as most of us.

* * *

On the other hand, you may be among the more than a million and a half workers who have to file returns, but who aren't taxable because of income levels or high exemptions. Or you may be among the fortunate ones who can claim tax refunds this spring. Two and one-half million people are dividing up a $125,000,000 refund pie.

And then again, you may be liable to the new Quebec tax on all or part of your income.

* * *

It would make the pill a little less bitter for those who have to pay Premier Duplessis' new tax, amounting to about 15 per cent of their federal tax, if they could count on it being only a three-year deal.

It's true that the Quebec income tax law has a three-year life, but tax-wise people here in Ottawa smile knowingly at this. They remember that when Finance Minister Sir Thomas White brought in the original Income Tax bill in 1917, he told Parliament that it was merely a wartime measure. But after the First World War successive governments kept a firm hold on this lucrative source of revenue. Finally, in 1948, the government got around to dropping the "war" out of the title—official acknowledgement that the income tax is here to stay.

Theoretically it might be a good idea to abolish all taxes which bear on the individual except the income tax. Advocates of this "single tax" plan say this would be fairer and simpler all round.

* * *

One disadvantage of this scheme is that income taxes would have to be almost oppressively heavy, to make up revenue lost by the abolition of sales and excise taxes. People would certainly have a much clearer idea of how much government costs, and they'd be equally certain to protest more than they do against the comparatively painless hidden taxes.

Another disadvantage is that some people may evade income tax: the "spivs" in our society, and those engaged in illicit enterprises. But they can't escape paying the hidden taxes on the things they buy.

Abbott's objective in devising the present tax structure has been a judicious balance between direct and hidden taxes. But at the end of April there are bound to be those who'll think he's a little heavy on the income tax side.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

CANADIAN biologists have succeeded in a practical way in crossing the lake trout with the speckled trout.

Large numbers of the new fish have been reared to good size and have been planted in lakes and streams for the benefit of sportsmen. Whether the new fish will be capable of reproducing itself or will be like the mule, sterile, cannot be known for some time. Both the lake trout and the speckled trout inhabit the same water in countless lakes and streams of Canada, and may have crossbred in nature. But the new fish offers the sportsman the advantage of the lake trout's size and the speckled trout's beauty and gameness.

* * *

When the biologists had created their new fish, they wanted a name for it. And with true biologists' zeal, they christened it Splake. This was a cross between the words speckled and lake. It suited the biologists fine, because it contained the two elements of which the fish was compounded. Very scientific. But the name horrified the sportsmen. It sounded to them like hake, a rather ghastly sea fish; or like snake, rake, jake and words of other sordid association. So the outdoor writers of Canada and the United States got to work on the new fish. They chose for it the Indian name Wendigo.

* * *

Wendigo means a spirit. When you see, in the winter wilds, a sudden little curl of snow, a small whirlwind picking up a spiral of snow and carrying it mysteriously across your path, that is a wendigo. Many other things are wendigos, and they are not necessarily evil spirits. They are simply manifestations of that unknown world of which the Indian was acutely conscious.

For a fish that was spirited out of the natural world by biologists, a new creation born out of two ancient and established species, wendigo is the perfect name. It has been spirited into our presence. It is a pretty name for a species of trout, pretty as Quananiche, prettier than Canuck, which was also suggested for it.

On the Record

The Modern Fagins

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

A SUB-COMMITTEE of Congress is investigating the "literature" disseminated among millions of youth as "comics."

A psychiatrist, Dr. Frederick Wertham, with copious experience of mentally and emotionally ... dren, has written a book to blow the roof off, about the lewd and brutalitarian stuff consumed by our youth, attributing to it large responsibility for the juvenile crime which sets the United States in the pillories of shame among the nations.

In a panel, nationally televised, to which two educators, one publisher, and one writer contributed, no one argued that books of the sort described do no harm. But few dare advocate that they be removed from distribution. The question is always tabled by recommending "further study."

* * *

This leads me to remark on the topic of "subversion." Subversion is more than the overthrow of government by force and violence. The subversion of civilization and culture is the eternal prelude to the collapse of states and societies before armed onslaught or quiet penetration by their enemies. A nation in which the public conscience no longer bulwarks the law, in which libertinage is rampant, violence of speech and deed, lewdness, blasphemy, drunkenness and narcotism are widespread, is a nation in a condition of decadence. No super-duper weapons and no technological superiority will save a morally rotted society.

Our authority for this is the whole of recorded history. Alien philosophies, cults, and armies have often taken over highly civilized societies, but only when those societies have already become mentally and morally degenerate. And most susceptible to influences of good or evil are children, for "as the twig is bent, so is the tree inclined."

* * *

There has progressively developed in America a form of picture book, distributed by tens of millions, available in drugstores or at newsstands for a few cents, falsely labeled "comics." The majority of these pamphlets depict violence, crime and sexuality in the lewdest, crassest, most brutal form. The effect of this reading matter is not questioned by people dealing with juvenile delinquents. Almost without exception they are addicted to such reading matter.

Since their appearance, a new class of criminals has emerged: 12 year-olds! Children have come into court for crimes exactly duplicating those in a "comic," carried out with implements advertised in the comic and obtainable by mail.

Dickens in Oliver Twist created Fagin, the monster who conducted a school for child thieves. Today's Fagins have improved the financial method. They don't take the loot of young thieves, but the profits of the books that create them.

The publisher of "Horror Books," William T. Gaines, testified before the senate sub-committee that "the Communists are the chief group opposing them." There you have the ultimate argument ad absurdum.

The Communists try to appeal to decency and morality, for they want sympathizers of respectable standing. Besides, they attribute such excrescenses to bourgeois decadence. Gaines is engaged in proving they are right, while he pursues his own subversions.

* * *

The debate queries, "does this stuff harm the 'well-adjusted' child?" What is a well-adjusted child? At every stage of every child's development he encounters crises in which an experience may influence his whole mental, moral, and esthetic development. This is particularly true at puberty, which for every child is a period of exceptional, sometimes violent, physical and emotional disturbance, marked by fantasy pictures. At this moment Fagin instructs him in life at its basest and crime as the activity of supermen.

Children, it is said, "survive the crime-book period." After they've shot their fathers, murdered the baby, seduced a schoolmate?

There are sufficient laws to put these books out of business. But they are not invoked because of a prejudice, applicable to no other commercial activity, regarding the rights of the printed word.

It is a criminal offence to sell alcohol to minors, but not so to pervert their minds that they become alcoholics. It is a criminal offense to peddle narcotics, but not to narcotize the soul of a generation. If marihuana comes in print and picture doses it "smacks of censorship" to outlaw it.

So the termites go on gnawing away the foundations of civilization, culture and morality, in the name of "freedom," and for the sake of the profits of filth.

How long may decency be abused?

Chinese Tongs Start Killings In Singapore

SINGAPORE (NANA) — The Chinese secret society is undergoing a revival at this intrigue-ridden Far Eastern crossroads. In one respect, the re-emergence of this sinister problem is a happy sign: it marks Singapore's return to normal after a six-year state of emergency in the Malayan Communist war.

With the Communist guerrilla revolt on the wane, the secret societies have returned to their formerly flourishing extortion trade.

The popular conception of a Chinese secret society, especially as depicted in Hollywood films and pulp magazine thrillers, is along classical Fu Manchu lines: hatchet wars and underground opium dens. But in Singapore, where 80 per cent or more of the 1,000,000 population is Chinese (against, incidentally, only 8,000 Europeans), the secret society is no fantasy.

Since the 19th century the British have kept control over the secret society by a registration law. Failure to register would mean banishment to China Today, however, this threat carries little if any weight since most of the Chinese involved have been born in Singapore and are therefore British subjects who simply cannot be banned from their native land.

At the outbreak of the Communist uprising in 1948, the British proclaimed a state of emergency. Severe penalties were invoked for infractions, including death by hanging for persons caught with arms or ammunition.

This promptly put ordinary criminals out of business; although 196 persons have been hanged since then.

But with the British today relaxing their emergency regulations, the secret societies have started to revive. For example, recently the British released 100 former secret society leaders from emergency detention. They had been picked up and held in protective custody since the start of the emergency.

During the past month two Chinese street hawkers or peddlers were found murdered because they failed to pay protection money to a society. Several rich Chinese businessmen have also been kidnapped and held for ransom.

Invariably the Singapore police know the culprits—they maintain an active file on 10,000 secret society members—but since nobody is prepared to testify against them, no arrests have been made and the criminals are never brought to trial.

Threats and intimidation are the stock in trade of the society. The lowest rungs of the social ladder are very often the chief victims, including street hawkers, opium dealers and prostitutes.

In essence the society is a cross between a campus fraternity and a gang of mobsters. The secret societies started out in China as a mutual help or benevolent association designed to provide charity and similar aid to clan members. They are rarely political, but have sometimes played important political roles, as during the Boxer rebellion at the turn of the century and in the revolution of Dr. Sun Yat-Sen which overthrew the Mauchu dynasty in 1911.

Little is known yet about the part they may have played in Mao Tse-Tung's rise to power and China's transformation into a Communist state. The Communists in recent years have been trying to root them out but, as one Chinese here said, "as long as there is a China, there will always be a secret society."

The societies are generally racial in character, composed of Chinese from one section of the country, such as Cantonese or Hokkiens (Amoy). They maintain secret rules and regulations, symbols and passwords.

In recent times the society has tended more and more toward crime—blackmail, extortion and protection rackets. The average Chinese thinks first of his family and then of his trade and not very much about the conception of state or citizenship. Consequently, he makes a very easy target for nefarious practices.

Although there is little hope that they will be stamped out, the British have instituted a campaign against the societies, staging dawn raids on secret headquarters and picking up known gangsters on flimsy charges.

Uneasiness among the societies is reflected in a recent outburst here of gang clashes. The legendary hatchet seems to belong to a bygone era since empty bottles and clubs are the weapons now employed.

Turn Backs On Canada

QUEBEC (CP) — Three European tradesmen who sailed for home Thursday night after a fruitless hunt for suitable jobs in their respective lines, think prospective immigrants should be better informed of Canada.

Jon Croinkeu of Germany, an electrician; Sipke Venema of Holland, a gardener, and an unidentified tailor from Holland said their stay in Canada consisted mainly of long waiting in employment offices.

They sailed from Quebec City en route to Rotterdam.

Croinkeu said he thought of returning home when he found Canadians in his line unemployed. In Canada more than two years, he said he held jobs in Montreal and Windsor for short periods until laid off.

Venema said he searched for 11 months in Ontario and British Columbia for an opening as a gardener and finally worked loading trucks in Sarnia, Ont.

The tailor, who preferred not to be identified, said people in Western Europe were told only the good points and never the drawbacks in Canada. He said the short time he spent as kitchen help in Winnipeg and a tailor in Regina did not give him enough financially to live on.

However, all agreed that Europeans interested in farming would do well to come to Canada.

Council Cuts Budget by $100,164 In Exhaustive Study of Estimates

"If we're going to hold the mill rate we're going to have to cut more than we have. We're only trying to keep the rate down because people have already had a reassessment which means their taxes have gone up in the last year or two."

Council also reduced a $38,025 item for maintenance of unpaved streets by $1,000.

Public works salaries, totaling $76,300, were reduced by $2,000 when it was explained that the total salaries estimate includes a small amount to pay for the possible hiring of occasional help.

OTHER REDUCTIONS

Other reductions saw $200 cut from office supplies, $2,000 from street signs and traffic signals, $500 from harbor facilities, and $1,500 from small equipment purchases.

No cut was made from the $37,915 estimated for maintenance of Johnson Street and Point Ellice Bridges.

Alderman Edgelow suggested, however, that the "stop" signs at either end of Point Ellice Bridge and the speed limit for ordinary cars were "ridiculous." He said no one had ever proved to him that the restrictions were necessary.

City Engineer Cyril Jones explained that an impossible traffic situation would result if a uniform limit was not imposed on cars and heavier truck traffic.

Alderman Pinfold stated that engineers had repeatedly examined the bridge and the "stop" signs were erected as a result of these investigations.

He said the engineers explained that it was the speed of a vehicle at the time it hits the bridge that is liable to cause damage. The "stop" signs, he said, ensure that no vehicle would hit the bridge at excessive speed.

During discussions of public works estimates, Ald. Mrs. Margaret Christie objected to the recently instituted one-way street system in part of the downtown area of the city.

Alderman Dowell said a special committee meeting is planned to consider the plan.

At the outset of yesterday's session, council added $1,500 to the budget to pay for clearing logs from Gonzales Beach and $260 to provide for improvements to the movie screen and electrical cable in Beacon Hill Park.

At the same time, $1,500 was reduced from the estimates for 28 care of trees on unboulevarded streets and $170 from estimates for the hiring of part-time help at the city pound.

Jobs Open for Laundry Workers

Skilled male workers in the laundering and dry cleaning trades are required for job vacancies, the National Employment Service reports in Victoria.

The vacancies are among the few listed, others being filled promptly from the large number of men available.

The women's section reports an increased demand for waitresses and cooks, experienced specialized sales clerks and qualified stenographers. Domestic workers are needed, including those able to handle household duties as well as being a practical nurse.

A wide range of jobs available in other parts of Canada are listed in the Victoria office, the NES said, including those for an architect, baker, bookbinder, butcher, chemist, doctor of medicine, aircraft mechanic, farm hand, and a large number of graduate engineers.

Eastern Canada has five species of hickory trees, which produce tough timber and hard-shelled nuts.

IN THE WORLD OF RELIGION

A congress of European Protestant journalists was held last month in Paris to form a body for documentation work on the big questions of the day — ecclesiastical, social, cultural and political — which interest the churches, to promote contacts between the journalists of various countries, and to supply reliable information to the general press. It will not compete with existing Protestant press agencies. Representatives were present from Belgium, France, Germany, Great Britain, The Netherlands, Sweden and Switzerland, and approving messages were received from journalists in Hungary and Italy.

It has been stated in Vienna that Roman Catholic parents in countries behind the Iron Curtain are banding together to hire private tutors for their children, to protect the youngsters from the atheist indoctrination given in the state schools. In many cases they are said to have paid heavy fines for refusing to send their children to the approved schools. Private schools are forbidden in most of the Communist countries, so the class of any private tutor is limited to 10 pupils, which does not legally constitute a school.

* * *

The position taken by Communist authorities is the direct opposite of that taken by the Anglican bishops at the last Lambeth Conference, when they affirmed that the day school teachers, while maintained by governmental agencies, are acting as deputies of the parents, and not of the state, in the training of children.

The Rev. William E. Rively, Jesuit missionary in the Caroline Islands, procured a 40-ton brigantine, in which to carry on the work of his "parish" of 105,000 square miles, and sailed her across the Pacific. Last December, the gallant little vessel was thrown up by high winds and surf on a coral reef. U.S. Navy experts said that she could not be salvaged, but a group of native Christians, members of the Vincentian men's sodality, worked for two months until they got her afloat, and brought her under her own power into the harbor of Truk. Extensive repairs are necessary before the Romance, rechristened the Stella Maria, will again put to sea.

Dr. W. Gibson Appointed To UBC Post

Dr. William C. Gibson, nationally-known Victoria neuropathologist, has been appointed to the Kinsmen professorship of neurological research in UBC, it was announced Thursday.

His appointmet is the first to receive major financial support from the service club. The Kinsmen clubs of British Columbia have pledged a minimum of $5,000 annually for five years for research as their contribution to polio.

A graduate of UBC in 1933, Dr. Gibson received his elementary education in Victoria schools and graduated from McGill University. He got his PhD at Oxford after three years' teaching and research in England and on the Continent.

He was deputy director of medical research for the RCAF during the war years.

Dr. Gibson's research field will include polio, cerebral palsy and epilepsy and other diseases involving the muscular system.

Strikes in U.S. At Postwar Low

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of labor strikes in the United States reached a post-war low during the first quarter of this year, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said Friday. The 800 strikes and 3,050,000 man-days lost because of the stoppages from January through March was lower than any corresponding post-war quarter.

Traders Finance Offers New Shares

TORONTO (CP)—An issue of $5,000,000 five-per-cent cumulative redeemable convertible preferred shares of Traders Finance Corporation, Ltd., is being offered by a syndicate of investment dealers headed by McLeod, Young, Weir and Co. Ltd.

The issue consists of 125,000 shares of $40 par value, offered at $40.50 a share. Proceeds are for general corporate purposes.

Church Committee To Meet Wednesday

LANGFORD — The church committee of St. Matthew's, Langford, will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the parish hall.

All Orientals Look Alike To Genevans

GENEVA (AP) — The honest citizens of Geneva are running into difficulties because a North Korean looks much like a South Korean and a Chinese may look like either.

Minor diplomatic incidents result. The North Korean delegation hired a Swiss chauffeur. The chauffeur drove a carload of Koreans to an office building in downtown Geneva and was told to wait.

Some time later, another group of Koreans came out of the building, entered the car and told the driver to take them to the South Korean headquarters. They turned out to be South Koreans who thought they had taken a taxi.

Mair Wins Top Prize In City Fivepin Classic

Fred Mair won the top prize of a television set in the windup of Capital City Bowladrome's Greater Victoria Fivepin Singles Classic late Thursday night by defeating seven other finalists in a five-game rolloff for a list of prizes valued at an estimated $2,300.

Mair, who bowled during the season in the "B" Division and received a handicap of 164 for the final rolloff, put together games of 297, 290, 195, 223 and 253 to score 1,258. The eight finalists all had qualified in regular season play, which was divided into thirds.

Gerry Devine and Ken Smith tied for second place with 1,246 and Don Corbett took fourth place with 1,207. Devine defeated Smith in a playoff to win a combination radio-phonograph while Smith received a washing machine and Corbett took home a vacuum cleaner.

In the consolation rolloffs Cy Wallis took the first prize of a clock radio by racking up a scratch total of 1,364.

League officials announced last night that plans have already started to hold the third annual event next year. The windup will come Saturday night with a dance, at which prizes will be presented at the Club Sirocco.

Other prize winners follow:
CHAMPIONSHIP
5, Jim Nott (1,161), floor polisher; 6, Bill McKinnon (1,151), mixer; 7, Bill Plater (1,123), mixer, and Frank Waters (1,119), clock radio.

Stamps Gain Lead In WHL Playoff; Trim Canucks, 3-1

CALGARY (CP) — Calgary Stampeders moved to within one game of the Western Hockey League championship Friday night when they edged Vancouver Canucks 3-1 in a tense fixture before 8,030 fans.

The victory gave Calgary a 3-2 edge in the best-of-seven final. Sixth game will be played here tonight and seventh, if necessary, in Vancouver Monday night.

The game was close with neither side giving any quarter and battling every inch of the way. Stampeders enjoyed the edge in territorial play, but were held in check by the solid netminding of Lucien Dechene. The regular New Westminster netminder is substituting for Lorne Worsley, sidelined with an injured back.

McFADDEN GETS WINNER

Jimmy McFadden fired the winning marker for Stampeders at the 7:26 mark of the final period.

Previously, Pat Lundy had given Stampeders a 1-0 lead in the first period and defenceman Harry Dick had tied it up with a screen shot at 10:57 of the second period.

Pat Lundy aggravated a heel injury in the first period and did not see action in the final session.

In a desperate effort to tie the count coach Art Chapman pulled Dechene with a minute and 38 seconds remaining. The tactics backfired as McFadden broke loose from Canucks' ganging attack and fired the insurance marker with 33 seconds remaining.

At the six-minute mark Canucks got their first shot at Brennan and seconds later almost took the lead when Adam's backhander trickled past Brennan and bounced off a post.

The coast club kept pressing and Wylie blew a great opportunity when he had Brennan at his mercy. The Calgary goalie refused to be drawn out of position, however, and pulled off a sensational save.

Calgary took the lead at 14:13 when Lundy picked up a double relay from Scott and McFadden and drove one past Dechene.

TIES THE COUNT

Vancouver tied the count midway in the second session when Dick fired a screen shot past Brennan from just inside the blueline.

Calgary pressed to regain the lead as the third period got under way. Play swept into the Vancouver end and after Pargeter bounced one off the post Stampeders moved ahead again when McFadden drove in from the side and banged a loose puck behind Dechene. With Dechene out of the net, Canucks stormed the Calgary zone and Wiliuk broke away only to hit the post with the net empty. Seconds later McFadden fired the insurance marker.

Trout fishing opens in some parts of Canada today but it is doubtful that hopeful anglers will encounter conditions as congested as those found by opening-day fishermen in New Jersey recently. Pictured scene shows bevy of trout enthusiasts at Saxon Falls fishing for brook and rainbow trout released in streams from state hatchery. Alberta, Ontario, and parts of British Columbia, open season today while Newfoundland and Saskatchewan will keep trout anglers idle until May 15.

Wondrous Willie Mays cracked a home run in the 14th inning yesterday to give the surging New York Giants a 4-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs and pitcher Sal Maglie his fourth straight victory — tops in the major leagues this season.

Mays, whose solid hitting in recent games has sparked the Giants into a second-place tie with Cincinnati in the National League just a half-game behind Brooklyn, banged his homer off Warren Hacker. Bob Rush went 12 innings and gave up only three hits before being removed for a pinch-hitter.

DODGERS WIN

The Dodgers slapped down the Redlegs, 6-3, behind the strong pitching of big Don Newcombe, who won his second decision. The 13-hit Brooklyn attack included home runs by Duke Snider and Pee Wee Reese, making it seven home runs in the last two games for the power-laden Dodgers.

The Philadelphia Phillies made it two in a row over the slumping Braves at Milwaukee by grinding out a 5-2 victory. Although the St. Louis Cardinals were rained out in their game with Pittsburgh, they made player news when they sold 25-year-old first baseman Steve Bilko, who hit .251 in 154 games last season, to the Chicago Cubs.

YANKEES IN SIXTH

In the American League, the defending champion New York Yankees continued to stumble along as they slipped to sixth place. The Cleveland Indians made up for many past indignities suffered at Yankee Stadium when they abused Whitey Ford for five runs in the 10th inning to score a 9-4 victory. Bob Lemon gained his third straight victory while Ford lost his second decision in a row.

At Boston, the Chicago White Sox held their half-game lead over Detroit by downing the Red Sox, 5-0, behind the eight-hit pitching of Bob Keegan, who won his third straight game. It was Chicago's ninth victory in 11 games.

TIGERS NIP SENATORS

The Tigers, continuing their rather amazing performance so far this season, rallied for a run in the ninth inning on three singles and put together three more singles in the 12th for the winning run in defeating Washington Senators, 2-1.

Final Rosters Announced For Little League Teams

Little League baseball managers and coaches made their final roster cuts at a meeting held last night, chopping the teams to the required 15-player limit in preparation for the first two games of the season Sunday at Little League Park.

The final selections were the climax of three weeks of spring training and player auctions at which managers of the eight teams dickered with the player agents over their choice of players.

TWO GAMES SUNDAY

Lions and Kinsmen will officially open the season Sunday at 1 p.m. with a National League game between North Kiwanis and Gyros following immediately after official opening ceremonies, which get under way at 2:30 p.m.

The four National League teams, holdovers from last season, will start the season with rosters packed with last year's players. Gyros have nine holdovers, North Kiwanis nine, Rotary six and Odd Fellows 11.

Flinn Handcuffs Caps As Tyees Even Series

BY JIM TANG

VANCOUVER—Hal Flinn, 24 years old, six feet four inches tall and righthanded, proved here Friday night that good pitching can stop any batting order. And he brightened the pitching prospects of the Victoria Tyees in the process of handcuffing the Vancouver Capilangs with five well-scattered hits which brought him a 2-1 victory.

Only a small crowd was on hand to see mid-season play as the Tyees earned a split in their first 1954 series by edging past Vancouver manager Bill Brenner in a sparkling nine innings of WIL baseball. The Tyees now move to Wenatchee for another two games before returning home Monday for their Victoria opener against Tri-City Braves. Saturday's game against the Chiefs has been postponed and the series will consist of a Sunday doubleheader with Bill Prior scheduled to pitch the first game.

JOSHUA HOMERS

Sharing the limelight with Flinn Friday night was Joe Joshua, big colored leftfielder who came to the Tyees on option from the Seattle Rainiers after the Caps decided they couldn't use him. Joshua got hold of a waist-high inside pitch in the seventh inning to drive a tremendously high home run out of Capilano Stadium at the 350-foot mark and tie it up at 1-1 when Brenner seemed to be on his way to the season's first shutout. A booming double by Eddie Lake and two infield hits in the ninth brought in the winning run.

Flinn pitched a game even better than the statistics would indicate. Changing speeds cleverly and keeping the hard-hitting Caps off balance, he stuck mostly to his fine fork ball and was in serious trouble only once. He struck out six and walked two and received errorless support from his teammates.

CONTROL TROUBLE

Flinn had a bit of control trouble in the early innings as he continually worked behind the hitters. But he got his dipping fork ball over when he had to and the Caps never really got a hold of any of his pitches. A lead-off base on balls to weak-hitting Ellis Daugherty, two infield outs and a single by Chorlton put the Caps ahead in the third inning.

They threatened again in the fourth when two singles and a walk loaded the bags with one out. But Flinn got Haligren on a slow bouncer to Mesner, which forced the runner at the plate, and whipped a third strike past Daugherty.

From there the slim right-hander was in complete control. Jim Clark hit a one-out single in the fifth and was the last Cap to reach base until Bob Duretto hit a double with two out in the eighth. Flinn got out of trouble that inging by seeing the dangerous Dick Greco for the fourth straight time, then set down the Caps in order in the ninth, starting by whiffing lead-off man Ken Richardson.

Brenner, as usual sticking almost exclusively to his knuckle ball, had a no-hitter until two were out in the fourth, when Lake rapped a clean single. Flinn got a single in the fifth and Tom Perez another one-base blow in the sixth but that was the extent of the Victoria attack until Joshua connected for the seventh.

Only in the fourth inning, and, of course, the ninth, did the Tyees get more than one runner on the bags. The ninth opened safely enough with Mesner popping out to Clark, who played a lot of shortstop for the Caps. Lake then rammed a double between the left and centre fielders as the Caps played him too close to the line. Dain Clay kept things going, after Joshua popped out with a bouncer between third and shortstop and Milt Martin plated Lake when his hit bounced off Brenner's hand towards the third-base line.

Broncs, Salem Score Second Straight Wins

Lewiston Broncs and Salem Senators racked up their second straight victories in the Western International Baseball League last night to remain tied for first place.

The Broncs drubbed Wenatchee for the second straight night, this time by a 12-5 count, before only 455 fans who braved 28-degree weather at Lewiston. The Senators kept pace by trimming Edmonton Eskimos, 9-4, in another game played in sub-freezing temperatures at Salem.

SQUARE SERIES

In other games played last night, Calgary evened its series with Tri-City, holding on for a 5-4 victory, while Yakima also squared its series with Spokane by pounding out a 4-2 win.

The Broncs took full advantage of 12 walks, using four in a row to clinch the win in a five-run fourth-inning rally. Don Tisherat gave up nine hits in gaining credit for the victory.

Don Hunter paced Calgary to its first victory, banging out two doubles, driving in two runs and scoring what proved to be the winner in the sixth inning.

Ted Edmunds spun a six-hitter at Spokane, who drubbed Yakima 14-3 on opening night, and Don Mead banged out three hits in four trips to the plate. Spokane almost pulled the game out of the fire with a ninth-inning rally, pushing across two runs and leaving the tying run on base when catcher Ellsworth Dean popped out to end the threat.

Hockey Clubs Up for Sale

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tigers and Hamilton Cubs hockey clubs have been put on the block by owner Ken Soble.

The asking price is "approximately" $5,000 for each.

If no one offers to buy, there will be no hockey in Hamilton next season because Soble feels "it is neither wise nor desirable that I personally continue to operate hockey clubs."

He estimated his total losses in hockey during the 1953-54 season at $45,000—$22,000 by the junior club, $23,000 by the senior Tigers.

Oak Bay Golf

Mrs. S. A. Maddocks won the silver division of the semi annual eclectic competition at the Victoria Golf Club recently with a net score of 60½. Mrs. G. H. Mearns finished second with 66 and Mrs. H. Husband and Mrs. L. J. Proctor tied for third with 67s.

In the bronze division, Mrs. A. B. Gonnason won top honors with a 63, followed by Mrs. D. McColl with 63½ and Mrs. W. Usher, 65½.

American Bowlers Show Here Tonight

Victoria will host three of the United State's top tenpin bowlers Saturday night in an exhibition series at Gibson's Bowladrome.

Joe Norris, Don Carter and Steve Nagy, who have all been knocked out of the American Bowling Congress tournament at Seattle, have consented to appear here for a series of exhibition doubles matches and also to give a demonstration of shots.

Norris, an all-time great, was recently elected to the bowler's Hall of Fame. Carter is a two-time national match game champion and Nagy has won that title once. There is a possibility that one other American trundler will make the trip.

Rudy Habeiler, last year's Master's champion who was eliminated from further competition recently, bowled several games at Gibsons yesterday.

The visiting bowlers are expected to pair off with four city trundlers — Kenn Munn, Andy Palmer, Fred Welsh and Len Murrant — for the series. The public is invited to attend the exhibition, which will start at 7:30, and no admission will be charged.

Festoon Wins 1,000 Guineas

NEWMARKET, England (Reuters) — A chesnut filly named Festoon Friday won the 1,000 Guineas, first fillies classic of the British racing season.

Festoon was ahead all the way after the first furlong, and finished two length, ahead of a 20-to-1 outsider, Big Berry.

Another 20-to-1 longshot, Welsh Fairy, was another length behind in the field of 12 runners.

The 5-to-2 favorite, Key, finished fourth.

Festoon, a daughter of Fair Trial out of Monsoon, was the 9-to-2 second favorite in the starting prices.

Soccer Official Nominated For Sid Thomas Award

Charlie Lewis, long a booster of juvenile and senior soccer in Victoria, is the latest nominee for the Sid Thomas Memorial Trophy, awarded annually to the person judged to be the outstanding figure in Victoria amateur sports, either as a player or official, during the past sports year.

Lewis was nominated by Mrs. Jean Stevenson, 2717 Rock Bay Avenue. In her nominating letter she pointed out the contributions that Lewis has made to soccer in the 30 years he has been connected with the sport. Lewis, at the present time, is president of the Victoria and District Football Association.

Further support for Ed Duffin was received by the sports department of The Daily Colonist when Dan Thomas, 1718 Haultain Street, endorsed the nomination of the Fire Department Boxing Club coach. Duffin was originally nominated by Sydney Pettit.

One of the surprises of the contest to date has been the lack of support for athletes in two of Victoria's leading sports — lacrosse and basketball. Consider all sports and send your nominating letter to the sports department of The Daily Colonist.

The writer of what is judged the best nominating letter will receive a season's pass to all home games of the Victoria Tyees. The best nominating letter doesn't necessarily have to nominate the player or official who wins the trophy.

Correlation Favorite For Kentucky Derby At Louisville Today

BY JOHN CHANDLER

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The names of 18 horses were dropped into the entry box Friday for the 80th Kentucky Derby, which certainly is one of the most confusing and definitively will be the richest running of the turf classic.

Although there is no absolute standout for the mile-and-one-quarter event for three-year-olds, Correlation from California rules the 5-to-2 favorite to have his third $100,000 prize in a row.

If all 18 go postward to the strains of "My Old Kentucky Home" this afternoon, the put will total $124,850. This would mean $102,800 to the winner, compared with Count Turf's record haul of $98,050 in 1952.

Post time is 5:30 p.m. EDT, with a crowd of some 100,000 expected. CBS will televise the big show from 5 to 5:30 p.m. and broadcast by radio from 5:15 5:45 p.m.

Correlation, owned by Robert Lytle, Los Angeles oilman, already has copped two one-hundred-granders—the Florida Derby March 20 and the Wood Memorial last Saturday.

GOYAMO IS RIVAL

His main rival today appears to be Goyamo, a colt he defeated by a length in the Florida Derby. Goyamo is owned jointly by the Woodvale farm of Royce G. Martin, Toledo, Ohio, and Mrs. W. Alton Jones of New York.

Goyamo, listed as second choice at 4-to-1, will be ridden by Eddie Arcaro, who holds the Derby jockey record of five victories.

Willie Shoemaker, 1953 jockey champion again will be aboard Correlation.

THIRD CHOICE

The probable third choice in the mutuels is Hasty Road, from the Hasty House Farm of Allie Reuben, Toledo. Hasty Road broke the Churchill Downs track record Tuesday, by winning the one-mile Derby trial in 1.35 flat. He will have a running mate, Sea O' Erin, and the entry is listed at 5-to-1. The California pair of Determine and Allied, owned by Andy Crevolin, Alhambra, Calif., are 6-to-1.

Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney's Fisherman is 7-to-1.

Other entries: Gov. Browning, Admiral Porter, Super Devil, James Session, King Phalanx, Hasseyampa, Close Out, Red Hannigan, Timely Tip, Black Metal and Mel Leavitt.

Cloudy, warm and humid weather with scattered showers is today's forecast.

(Victoria television viewers will be able to see the race over KTNT, Tacoma, channel 11, at 2.15 p.m.)

Fans Flock to London For Cup Final Today

LONDON (Reuters)—Thousands from all over Britain have been pouring into London for today's soccer cup final between West Bromwich Albion and Preston North End.

Many of them are still hoping to get a ticket for the classic contest, even though all tickets for Wembley Stadium, with a capacity of 93,000, were sold days ago. So ticket scalpers who hang around the approaches to the stadium should do a brisk business before the game gets under way.

The hundreds of unlucky West Bromwich and Preston supporters who don't get tickets will probably spend the day painting London red before catching buses or trains back to the north Saturday night.

It is still anybody's guess which team will win.

PRESTON NOW FAVORED

At one time the boys of West Bromwich Albion, bidding for the league championship as well, were favored to take the cup. But they were hit by injuries in recent league games and have already been robbed of the league championship.

Now Preston are cup favorites.

But West Bromwich, whose trainer has oxygen as a pick-me-up among his equipment are still determined to try to take the cup back to the Midlands.

Remember When:

The longest game in the major leagues was the 26-inning battle between Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston of the National League, 34 years ago today, which ended in a 1-1 tie as play was called on account of darkness. Leon Cadore of Brooklyn and Joseph Oeschger of Boston pitched the entire game, which took three hours and 50 minutes to play.

Two City Soccer Clubs Seek B.C. Titles Today

Two Victoria minor soccer teams will take part in the first of two wholesale "air lifts" to Vancouver today for the second annual Tournament of Champions at Callister Park.

Leaving for the Mainland early this morning will be Mic Macs and Eagles, Vancouver Island representatives in the British Columbia Divisions II and III finals. Three more city teams—Eagles' Division I and Division IV clubs and Tillicums of the Junior Division — will leave early Sunday morning for games against Mainland opposition Sunday afternoon.

Victoria players will travel in a Trans-Canada Air Lines North Star with the teams returning in two flights Sunday night. Upon arrival at the Vancouver Airport, the teams will be met by tournament officials and whisked to the park or to their billets.

TO OPEN TOURNEY

Mic Macs will have the honor of getting the tournament under way when they meet Vancouver Lees at 10 a.m. this morning in the first of four games today. Eagles will clash with Vancouver United Steelworkers at 3 p.m. in the Division III final.

On Sunday, Tillicums meet Mission City St. Mary's at 10 a.m.; Eagles Division I will play Vancouver Taurus at 11:55 and Eagles Division IV clashes with Vancouver Junior Futurity Falcons.

Officials of the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association learned earlier this week that Shepherd's Dairy had lost a protest, lodged following their 1-0 defeat at the hands of Nanaimo in the Island Division V final, on the grounds that Nanaimo had used several players who were not registered.

Zulueta Gains TKO Triumph

NEW YORK (AP) — Orlando Zulueta, second-ranked lightweight contender, scored an eighth-round technical knockout over Paolo Rosi Friday night in a scheduled 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena. Zulueta weighed 135½, Rosi 132¾.

The end came at 46 seconds of the eighth when referee Al Berl stepped between the two men as blood streamed from a cut over the Italian's right eye.

Rosi suffered the cut in the second round when the pair were fighting at close quarters.

Great Indies Sprinter Ends Stay in Britain

BY JEFF RYAN

LONDON (CP) — Emmanuel McDonald Bailey, an outspoken sprinter, has returned to the West Indies after a 10-year stay in Britain during which he collected a flock of records and the conviction that "people soon forget when you've finished — they have convenient memories."

Bailey, who hailed from the aptly-named Trinidad village of Hard Bargain, appeared for Britain in two Olympics and then made money out of writing, rum, running togs and rugby before he took a job in Georgetown, British Guiana.

CONTROVERSIAL FIGURE

"McBailey," a popular figure as well as a controversial one, quit amateur ranks last year when he was still winning. "Now my plan is to make as much money as possible," he said matter-of-factly when he announced that he was entering the play-for-pay English Rugby League.

"Maybe at the end of my amateur days someone would have given me a job, but that's only maybe. People soon forget when you've finished — they have convenient memories."

But the 33-year-old Negro speedball will take a lot of forgetting here. Bailey came to Britain in 1945 to run in Amateur Athletic Association AAA events. He won 14 titles between 1946 and 1953, including seven sprint doubles—100 and 220 yards.

MISSED OLYMPIC WIN

He also holds three European sprint records and equalled the world record of 10.2 for the 100 metres. Greatest disappointment was his failure to capture a gold medal in either Olympic competition. His best was third place in the 100 metres in 1952.

Bailey's decision to turn pro with the Lancashire Leigh Rugby Club was a real surprise. Most observers doubted his ability to adapt track-trained muscles to the rough knocks of the rugger field and they were right.

After one game—which developed a recurring groin injury—his four-year contract with the club was ended by mutual consent.

Now he has landed a job in the political hot-box of British Guiana, as sport organizer for 28,000 employees of an English sugar company in Georgetown. He plans to settle there with his English wife, Doris, and their three children.

Bailey, who once shook hands with the Queen three times in one afternoon, was plied with various questions before leaving, including his opinion about the color bar in England.

Of the latter he said: "Of course there is a color bar in Britain and so there is everywhere else. But only by people with big heads and small minds, admitting their own inferiority complex. Most of it has its roots in silly little incidents.

"Irresponsible people threw bottles at a cricket match in Georgetown during the recent England-West Indies test series. But I have also known others to flourish razors at a football match in Glasgow. That does not make either British Guiana or Scotland a bad place."

Boxla Practices

"Greater Victoria Lacrosse Association and Victoria Shamrock practice schedule at Stevenson Park for the next week follows:

Today—8:00 a.m., Pee Wees; 10:30 a.m., Bantams.
Sunday—10 a.m., Juvenile senior B team.

Thursday—7:15 p.m., Jokers; 8:30 p.m., Juvenile workout.
Friday—6:30 p.m., Shamrocks.
Saturday—9:00 a.m., Pee Wees; 10:30 a.m., Bantams.

Navy Boxer Chosen On Provincial Team

Trent Ketcheson, RCN boxer stationed at Victoria, was one of 10 British Columbia battlers selected to represent the province at the British Empire Games trials in Toronto May 13, 14 and 15.

Ketcheson, Dominion middleweight champion last year, scored a first-round TKO over Gordie Lorimer at Vancouver Thursday night in an elimination bout and will be sent to the trials by the Navy. A five-man British Columbia amateur boxing commission made the selections following the eight elimination bouts.

O'NEIL LOSES OUT

Welterweight Jackie O'Neil, only other Victoria boxer competing in the finals, lost his chance for a trip east when he dropped a decision to clever Norm Jorgensen of Vancouver, who headed the team.

The B.C. boxing trials drew only 600 spectators and went $50 in the red. Officials of the BCABA have estimated that it will cost $300 to send one fighter east for the trials and they are slightly worried about where the funds are going to come from.

The Army will send heavyweight Bill McCready and it is hoped that Gerry Boucher will be sent by the Air Force to the trials. The commission hopes to get $1,500 travel allotment from the $10,000 set aside to send British Columbia athletes to any BEG trials—held in the east.

Other fighters picked included Buddy Pearson, Bill Stone and Gordie MacDonald of Vancouver; Billy Adams and Jack Barclay of Sapperton, and Steve Phare of Haney.

Buffalo Places Three Players On AHL Team

NEW YORK (AP)—Three members of the Buffalo Bisons have been named to the annual American Hockey League all-star club and a fourth player selected as the outstanding rookie.

Named to the all-star team from the league champions, who lost out in the playdowns are defenseman and playing coach Frank Eddolls, leftwinger Gaye Stewart and rightwinger Ed Slowinski.

Rounding out the all-star team were goalie Gil Mayer and defenseman Frank Mathers, both of Pittsburgh, and centre Red Sullivan of Hershey. Sullivan and Mathers were unanimous choices.

Rookie of the year is centre Don Marshall, who was a unanimous choice with a possible 30 points. Pittsburgh defenseman Larry Cahan and Buffalo defenseman Pete Wright, were next with ten and seven points, respectively.

Several Fine Performances Feature Festival Concert

BY BERT BINNY

The Greater Victoria Musical Festival continued yesterday with further classes in piano and more competition among school choirs. The day was brought to a happy conclusion with the first evening concert, held at Metropolitan Church.

In the piano section were three classes. A double winner was uncovered in Alan G. Radcliff who won his sight-reading class Thursday and his class yesterday, the latter with no fewer than 37 entrants.

OUTSTANDING

Adjudicator Lyell Gustin pronounced Alan's performance to be quite outstanding, his being the highest mark obtained in any piano class so far.

All the day's classes, said Mr. Gustin, were of high standard with Class 80 for those 11 years and under excelling Class 79 for those 10 years and under.

In the "Easy Elizabethan" class, the classic style was prerequisite and was satisfactorily achieved certainly by the winners.

Piano section results:

Eleven years and under

1 Alan G. Radcliff ... 173
2 Myra Law ... 168
3 Karen Troop ... 167
Joanne Parsons ... 167
Ten years and under
1 Susan Nash ... 170
2 Gail McDermid ... 169
3 Patsy Evans ... 168
Linda Parfitt ... 168
Exie Elizabethan, thirteen years and under
1 Maureen Carey ... 180
2 Irene Boone ... 168
Florence Goward ... 168

SPECIAL MENTION

Sherwood Robson, adjudicating the choirs, made special mention of the exceptionally good performance by Willows School Composite Choir.

This group composed of members up to and including Grade VI, received the highest mark of any choir in the festival thus far. The group was invited to be heard again at the concert in the evening.

Also recalled were Saanichton School, Doncaster School, St. Ann's Academy and Willows School, Grade VI, Division 2.

Mr. Robson found the Grade II choirs very pleasing and, in particular mention of the choir from Sir James Douglas School, Division I. Folk-song classes were considered good throughout.

With the completion of the classes for choirs and choruses, Mr. Robson indicated strongly that this section of the festival has shown enormous promise.

He drew attention to the value of "set pieces" as being the media through which teachers and pupils could observe the different approaches to and handling of any number and thus add immeasurably and most profitably to their experience.

Mr. Robson also emphasized very truly the bonding quality of music and this inspiring quality, said the adjudicator, had been caught by the performing choirs on many more than one occasion.

The evening concert was very well attended and highly appreciated. It was all most enjoyable, effortlessly enjoyable. Of course, different items on the program stick fast in different memories but no fewer than three rounds of hearty applause rewarded St. Ann's Academy folk song group, up to and including Grade 6.

AUDIENCE CHARMED

The audience was particularly charmed by the fact that the conductor of this group was in the same age bracket as the singers. Carol Hawe did excellently taking the group through its performance.

The very last number on the program, performed by Doncaster School, was also especially attractive. The treatment of Wilson's arrangement of "Stodola Pumpa" was outstanding.

Mendelssohn's "I Would That My Love" was lovely as rendered by the Mt. Newton Girls' Choir. Particularly the clear, fresh sound of youth clung to this song. Mendelssohn himself would have approved — sincerely.

The next evening session is set for 8 p.m., Monday, and this will take place at First United Church. Choirs, choral societies and vocal ensembles and the finals in the junior piano classes will be heard.

TODAY'S CLASSES

Today piano classes again occupy both morning and afternoon sessions at St. John's War Memorial Hall. There will be plenty of interest here as none of the classes are small. Two, indeed, have 20 and 28 entrants respectively. Lyell Gustin will again adjudicate.

This afternoon at 1 and this evening at 8 there is folk dancing at the Badminton Hall on Amphion Street.

Folk dancing is a singular art, illustrative, interpretative and also aesthetic. The variety of demonstrations to be given is most attractive.

There will be square dances and folk dances as well as other dances native to Scotland, Mexico, Denmark, Czecho-Slovakia, Sweden, England, the United States and other countries.

This geographical hodge-podge almost amounts to capering clear around the world, in imagination at any rate.

WIDE EXPERIENCE

The adjudicator is Mrs. Peggy MacFarlane who has the very widest experience in teaching and adjudicating and can be relied upon not only for sage advice but for sage advice clearly, kindly and interestingly given.

This kind of entertainment does not happen along any too often. Surely it would be a pity to miss it?

Millionaire Charged In $41 Robbery Case

TORONTO (CP) — The 21-year-old heir to a $2,600,000 fortune, known as "Canada's richest young man," was arrested by Toronto police Friday as an alleged accomplice in a $41 robbery.

Charged with robbery with violence is John Leonard Smallman, member of one of the richest families in London, Ont. At 14 he became heir to the fortune left by a great aunt. He gets half the principal at the age of 25.

Police said the charge was laid as a result of investigation into the December, 1953, holdup of Lawrence T. Nash. Nash spent several days in hospital recovering from injuries suffered at the hands of three men who robbed him of $41 after taking him for an automobile ride.

Detectives said Smallman told police he has an income of $850 a month from his estate and from his work as a jewelry salesman. They said he denied the charge of complicity in the robbery of Nash.

The youth reported to a suburban police station after police telephoned him. He was questioned, then charged and later released on bail of $1,000.

Smallman is to appear in court today for preliminary hearing. A leading Toronto criminal lawyer, G. Arthur Martin, will handle his defense.

Police said they have been trying for some time to get in touch with Smallman, but he has been absent from his expensive Roselawn Avenue apartment in North Toronto where he lives with his wife. Also a member of a socially prominent London family.

Duke's Jive Puts 'Em in Aisles With That Real 'Gone' Feeling

BY MAURY GWYNNE

Jazzophiles and symphony supporters are worlds apart in expressing that "gone" feeling and the Duke Ellington concert at Memorial Arena last night proved it.

Those "crazy" 2,500 fans talked, walked around, drank coke and whistled at one another all the way through the show—but they loved every note The Duke ground out.

He played them a concert that left them limp and happy, then let them really tire themselves out dancing from 11 to 1 a.m.

The whole thing is on an informal basis that would drive a symphony conductor out of his mind.

The show opened with a selection of jazz music by the Victoria All Stars orchestra under Gordie King. While this was going on, the Ellington band was quietly assembling in the background, ready for the word to play.

When they opened with the Ellington theme, "Take the 'A Train," the mob went wild and screamed their approval to The Duke as he climbed on stage.

From there it was everybody's show. First, he gave them his arrangement of "The Mooch," a jazz pearl of the 1927 school. Then without warning he let the band slip into a technical rendition of "How High The Moon." The folks applauded fine, but they didn't know what they had heard until Ellington told them.

Then they applauded louder than ever.

MONOLOGUE GOOD

One of the highlights of the concert half of the show was a monologue by Ellington, with musical assists from three musicians, entitled "Pretty and the Wolf."

After a round of serious modern jazz, featuring his top instrumentalists, Duke Ellington announced what the fans had been waiting for.

He gave the full treatment of "Take the 'A Train," featuring the trumpet playing of Gat Anderson.

LOAD FASTER—CARRY MORE!
Express and panel floors are less than 2 feet from the ground so you save time and strain in loading. Yet there is plenty of road clearance. Wide running boards make side loading easier. And express bodies are wider and deeper to give bigger capacity than other trucks of similar weight.
A PLEASURE TO DRIVE!
You can turn a Dodge in less space . . . with less effort . . . than any comparable truck. That saves time in traffic, and saves you work. The "easy-chair" seat makes driving easier, too. The roomy Dodge cab is sealed against drafts and dust.
MORE MILES AT LOWER COST!
Dodge trucks are "Job-Rated" for dependable, economical service on your job. They have big clutches and brakes—heavy-duty frames, springs, axles and transmissions. Dodge engines provide many quality features, too, such as full-pressure lubrication and moistureproof ignition.

Why Canadians are Peeved at the U.S.

In an unusually forthright article by the distinguished Canadian writer, BRUCE HUTCHISON, Collier's magazine examines the reasons for recent Canadian-U.S. friction.

What's the real story of the Gouzenko affair?

Why did it cause more anti-American sentiment than any other event of this century?

Did a U.S. cabinet officer commit a serious breach of international etiquette?

Don't miss WHY CANADIANS ARE PEEVED AT THE U.S. It's "must"—reading on a timely topic—in Collier's, on newsstands now.

Speedboat Regatta Planned

Application of the Victoria Inboard and Outboard Association for permission to hold a speedboat regatta at Elk Lake on August 14 was referred by the public works committee yesterday to the city solicitor, the medical health officer and Saanich council.

City Engineer Cyril Jones told the committee similar applications had been refused in the past because of the danger that the operation of speedboats might contaminate lake waters which are used as a source of supply on Saanich Peninsula. He explained also that the lake is a bird sanctuary.

Beauty To Be Crowned

Miss B.C. Products will be crowned Miss Victoria on May 22 on the steps of the Legislative Buildings as part of the city's May 24 celebrations, it was learned yesterday from officials of the Greater Victoria Celebrations Association.

Officials disclosed that the Lions Club—due to "circumstances beyond the control of both the association and the club"—have had to give up their traditional role of arranging May Queen crowning ceremonies.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has consented to handle the ceremonies and plan to crown their Miss B.C. Products as Miss Victoria to reign over May 24 celebrations.

During crowning ceremonies on May 22, Miss Victoria will be accompanied by the two runnersup in the B.C. Products contest.

The traditionally brilliant and spectacular ceremonies will be under the direction of a special committee of the Junior Chamber.

Frost Hitting Saanich Fruit

Saanich Peninsula fruit growers yesterday described as "extensive" cold weather and frost damage to strawberry blooms.

H. C. Oldfield said damage was most extensive in low areas but that the acreage involved couldn't be known for about two weeks.

He said many growers don't anticipate strawberries until mid-June. Picking usually begins at the end of May.

Firemen Have Busy Day

Langford and Saanich fire departments had a busy day Friday.

On one of the first really warm days of the season, Saanich answered a total of six grass fires and one chimney fire.

Langford firemen turned out for three bush fires one that burned over four acres and was still burning under control late last night.

Three Names Considered In Contest

Judges have whittled eight [illegible] contestants [illegible] centre [illegible] down to [illegible] don't expect to pass the winner until next week.

Due to the large number of entries in the $30 contest to name the centre, judges have been larger than planned during a weight.

Postmaster Takes Over

A Vancouver man, Robert E. Reid, took over duties of acting postmaster here yesterday against the protest of local postal workers. Former postmaster John B. Sinclair has begun retirement leave.

Employees have protested to Ottawa that the appointment should go to a Victoria man. They said they have men on staff qualified for the position.

Higher Yield Likely

Real property taxes are estimated to yield $681,541 for the year in Oak Bay Municipal Clerk A. D. Lindsay reports.

[illegible] estimates are $30,059 higher than last year due to a 1 cent increase in taxes for construction and frontage rates imposed under local improvement by-laws.

The provincial police estimate is $54,800 and the local taxes are estimated at $8,400, the same as 1953.

Other [illegible] receipts are estimated as $196,800 in provincial government grants of sales tax on motor vehicle licenses and trailer license permits, $32,500 in automobile [illegible] and miscellaneous $35,000.

RECORD COLLECTIONS

Tax collections in 1953 were [illegible] a record for the municipality, Mr. Lindsay reported.

Ratepayers will receive details of the new budget in a pamphlet to be mailed with tax notices.

Capital expenditure of $32,970 this year will include extension of the sewer main on St. Ann Street from Cranmore to Bowker to relieve the load on Beach Drive surface drains and other works also are included in the sum.

The municipality during April issued permits for building [illegible] valued at about $131,000, including nine dwellings.

J. A. Byers Will Hear Dispute

J. A. Byers, Victoria lawyer, has been appointed chairman of a conciliation board to hear [illegible] dispute between Saanich Municipal Employees Association (TLC) and the municipality.

Employees' nominee to the board is Robert McIlveen. William Kersey is nominee of the municipality. Hearings are not expected to be held until late next week.

Midnight Boat Trips To Be 'Dry' Runs Only

Victoria's [illegible] midnight boat [illegible] according to officials of the Liquor Control Board.

Under the new Liquor Act regulations [illegible] on CPR boats will be governed by opening and closing hours [illegible] wholesale establishments [illegible] and only while ships are [illegible] docks.

Hours [illegible] are from [illegible] p.m.

This means the night boat could never open its bar because it is not in transit until midnight. The same situation will apply to the midnight steamer from Vancouver to Victoria.

BARS ON DAY BOATS

Day boats traversing both ways will be permitted to open bars and serve beer and wine with meals in the dining rooms, but [illegible] are usually in transit between 10.30 a.m. and [illegible] p.m.

CPR and CNP officials have been granted six hours for [illegible] and [illegible] hours for [illegible] in Victoria.

The CNR has 13 hours and eight [illegible] hours for trains and two hours and [illegible] hours for ships.

ONLY IN B.C.

Transcontinental trains will be permitted to open bars and serve beer and wine in diners only while trains are in transit in B.C. between 10.30 a.m. and 11.30 p.m.

Tourists will travel day the moment trains cross the Alberta border and until they enter wet Ontario.

Officials also state that small "feeder" line railways like the E. & N. won't operate [illegible] neither dining rooms or observation lounges would have lounge licenses if the facilities were provided.

Car Thief Gets One-Year Term

Gordon A. Musclow was sent to jail for one year by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court yesterday when he pleaded guilty to car theft.

Crown Prosecutor Alan Bige asked that a similar charge against Henry C. Dahl be withdrawn. He was arrested with Musclow in the stolen car but [illegible]

Detective Richard Berry told [illegible] the car was stolen by Musclow from a downtown car lot March 30. He took the car to the Maillard and drove it as far as Saskatchewan where he obtained new license plates.

Musclow then started driving the car back west. He was picked up with Dahl in Blairmore, Alta., by RCMP who found both men asleep in the vehicle.

Detectives Berry and Ray Maillard made the journey to the Prairies to bring the men and the car back.

Failure to carry the owner's [illegible] cost Donald Robinson $10 fine.

Previously convicted of careless driving, Lloyd R. Moss was told by the magistrate that the question of his license had been taken up with the motor vehicle department. It had been decided that Moss license would be suspended.

Army 'Grounds' Vehicles After General Stopped

CALGARY (CP)—The army isn't taking any more chances on having its officers hauled on the Queen's highway without proper authority.

Thursday the following telegram was received by all units of western command affecting more than 100 reserve units:

"For your information from command headquarters Ottawa.

"All vehicles not repeat not in possession of 1954 issue plates will be grounded as of quiet with the receipt of this wire. Vehicles corded licensed equipped or can and remain grounded repeat vehicles were likewise grounded until correct license fraction [illegible] of 1954 gained plates received and installed at 50% fee.

Wednesday a convoy in which Defence Minister Brooke Claxton and Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes, commanding officer of western command were riding was loaded by two RCMP constables because two of the cars did not have 1954 plates.

MVD Deserter Gives Details Of Arrest of Lavrenti Beria

MUNICH, Germany (Reuters)—Details of the arrest of executed Soviet security chief Lavrenti Beria were related today by Nikolai Khokhlov, who deserted to the West rather than carry out an assassination mission in West Germany.

Khokhlov, former member of the Russian secret police, made the disclosures in a broadcast interview beamed to Moscow.

Khokhlov said the arrest of Beria, formerly a key man in the Soviet hierarchy, was carried out by a member of the Communist party's central committee, a major-general in the MVD secret police and two colonels.

NO RESISTANCE

He told how they entered Beria's office in the Lubyanska prison in Moscow with levelled pistols and took Beria, who offered no resistance to a cell in the prison. Secret police also were sent to Beria's private fortress on an estate where they disarmed sentries and arrested Beria's wife and son.

Khokhlov said MVD men did not learn of Beria's arrest immediately, but rumors began to circulate after two days. Later he was given the details by a colonel in the MVD section headed by Maj.-Gen. Nikolsky who had given the order for Beria's arrest.

In the broadcast today Khokhlov said Beria had an [illegible] number of [illegible] who had fallen accidentally into his clutches.

Beria was executed last December 23 for high treason.

The arrest came at the end of June, 1953, Khokhlov said, and the following month a secret report was issued to officers of the MVD and leading Communist party members.

The report which Khokhlov paraphrased from memory said one of the major shortcomings in the policies of the [illegible] was that the state leadership was concentrated in the hands of one person. This Khokhlov added, meant Stalin.

BY ROY PARRETT

Tacoma's channel 11 outlet, KTNT-TV, is being very secretive about its forthcoming power boost.

The popular station is expected to move to a new site at View Park, Washington, and to raise its output to 316,000 ...

Station officials aren't giving out any information because of the many false starts made by other TV stations in the past.

My own private spy tells me that KTNT-TV plans to surprise its viewers by transmitting from the new site, unannounced, sometime next month.

The new transmitter will be about 325 feet higher than the existing one, which should greatly improve reception here.

The channel 11 station will begin operation from the new location, using about the same power as at present. The boost from 125,000 to 316,000 watts will follow a few days later, when high-power equipment is in ...

The changes may well make the popular CBS station, one of the best received here.

★ ★ ★

Some viewers are still missing their popular shows, because of the annual mixup over the shift to fast time.

Network shows are arriving at their normal times in spite of daylight time. Many local and film presentations appear an hour later though.

Most of the channel 5 shows are running an hour later because ABC features are mostly on film, and because Washington is on standard time.

For details, consult the daily listings on this page.

★ ★ ★

Don't miss the running of the Kentucky Derby from Churchill Downs on KTNT-TV at 2.15 ... 5 at 11.30.

"I don't care about your musical ability—how's your marksmanship?"

See Simone Simon and Robert Mitchum in "And So They were Married," on KING-TV at 6.

Enjoy Western Music in a Dude Ranch setting on CBUT at 7.30.

Gail Robbins will sing Irving Berlin's "Blue Skies." "How Deep Is The Ocean," "The Girl That I Marry," and other hits on This Is Your Music, on channel 5 at 7.45.

Old timers Laurel and Hardy will be seen on KMO-TV tonight at 8.

"The Living Thing," on KING-TV at 10.30, is an unusual story of a prisoner who takes an interest in a plant outside his cell, and how a guard's daughter uses it to bring him back to a new life, and love.

Jane Russell and Jamie Hayward star in "Young Widow," one of the most popular movies made by these two stars. The tender love story is on channel 5 at 11.30.

SAANICH SET UP AS LICENSE AREA

Boxcars Go to Line's End—and Farther

An unscheduled trip was taken by 20 boxcars loaded with grain at Port Arthur, Ont., when their couplings were broken and they rolled down a track leading to the water's edge. Three cars plunged into the lake, a fourth hung suspended off the end of the dock and four other cars were overturned on the tracks. Police are seeking two boys who are believed to have broken the couplings which caused $40,000 damage when the cars were set in motion.—(Central Press Canadian.)

Council Cuts $100,164 From Civic Estimates

BY LAWRIE JOSLIN

City council has clipped $100,164 from the 1954 budget in an exhaustive two-day study of departmental expenditures.

Still less than halfway through the tentative $7,000,000 budget, aldermen have already achieved savings which will leave the mill rate at last year's 56-mill level and, at the same time, provide for:

• The possibility of having to pay 3 per cent wage increases to "inside" and "outside" employees, a step which would cost some $18,300 or .86 of a mill.

• The possibility of having to make charitable grants up to the $25,000 limit approved by the electors last December. (The provisional budget provides for charitable grants totaling only $4,750.)

• The one-half-mill increase in general expenditures called for by the 56's mill provisional budget.

If it turns out that council does not increase its charitable grants or award pay increases, the mill rate has already been cut to the 55-mill level.

MEET ON MONDAY

Aldermen will meet again at 10 a.m. Monday, intent on finding additional savings which will reduce the mill rate further.

In a gruelling seven-hour afternoon and night session Thursday, council sliced $81,294 from special expenditures of the parks and public works department and from the routine operating expenditures of the parks department.

The pruning continued yesterday afternoon when aldermen cut $18,870 from special and ordinary estimates of the street lighting department and from ordinary estimates of the public works department.

A special item calling for the spending of $7,750 to install new street lighting equipment on Douglas Street, from the Fountain north to Tolmie, was reduced to $3,875.

Another $1,250 "special" project involving installation of mercury lighting fixtures on Government Street, from Belleville to Herald, was also sliced in half.

OTHER SAVINGS

Savings totaling $780 were made in ordinary estimates of the street lighting department.

Turning to the ordinary expenditures of the public works department, aldermen clipped a total of $12,200.

Biggest cut, amounting to $5,000, was made from the $78,075 included in the budget for maintenance of paved streets.

This move brought strenuous objection from Ald. Arthur Dowell, public works committee chairman.

"It's false economy to cut these things too much," he declared.

Alderman Dowell said part of the trouble with streets today results from actions of councils of seven or eight years ago that "wanted to cut the mill rate regardless."

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, who favored the cut, declared that Victoria's streets compare favorably with those of any city.

"If you want to see some bad streets," he said, "go to Edmonton or Calgary."

FALSE ECONOMY

Ald. William Pinfold agreed with Alderman Dowell that it is "false economy to tamper with public works."

"In the long run you have to spend a bigger amount of money to keep them in shape," he said.

He opposed the cut by saying that it already appeared the mill rate could be kept at last year's level or even reduced. He added that he could show aldermen any number of streets needing repair.

Mayor Harrison objected to Alderman Pinfold's use of the word "tamper" in connection with public works.

"Every alderman here is trying to do his best," he said.

— "We still have to face a possible increase in wages," reminded Alderman Edgelow.

Plebiscite Doubtful

Reeve Expresses Approval Of Cabinet Announcement

BY RAY BAINES
Colonist Legislative Reporter

The Municipality of Saanich has been designated as a liquor license area along with four other Vancouver Island and 12 Mainland centres.

Other Island areas are Central Saanich, North Cowichan, Cumberland and Lake Cowichan.

The designations were made yesterday by cabinet order. No mention was made of Oak Bay or Esquimalt in the new list.

Reeve Joseph Casey of Saanich said yesterday a few well-controled outlets in Saanich would be "good for the municipality."

'OUT OF SHORT PANTS"

"Why should our citizens have to go miles for a drink?" he said. "We have grown out of short pants."

He said he felt the Saanich council would not ask for a local option vote, nor would there be enough objection in the area to raise a 35 per cent petition.

Saanich, a largely residential municipality with a population of nearly 30,000, is in the unique position of having no hotels, resorts or clubs, and is therefore ineligible for lounge licenses (cocktail bars). At least one cabaret, however, could apply for a dining-lounge license to sell liquor, and other establishments could get public house and dining room licenses.

MAY BE ONE OR TWO

Reeve Sydney Pickles of Central Saanich would not comment on the possibility of a local option vote in his municipality. He said he had heard that one or two licenses in the municipality may be sought.

Reeve Pickles said he would prefer to discuss the matter with his council before making any comment.

Mainland centres designated in yesterday's cabinet order were North Vancouver, Richmond, Enderby, Surrey, Merritt, Coquitlam, Delta, Fraser Mills, Langley, Maple Ridge, Mission and Pitt Meadows.

Several well-known establishments in Oak Bay, Esquimalt and the unorganized areas around Victoria are still awaiting word on the designation of their areas.

Late Briefs

Bank Robbery Clues 'Unusual'

VANCOUVER (CP)—City and New Westminster police were reported Friday night to have uncovered some "unusual evidence which they believe will lead to early arrests in connection with Thursday's $10,000 holdup of a Royal Bank of Canada branch in New Westminster.

Terrorist Camp Obliterated

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — British bombers "obliterated" a large terrorist camp in the Ipoh area of Perak state in the year's heaviest Malayan air strike, it was announced Friday. Seven Lincoln bombers dropped 77,000 pounds of bombs on the camp, a cluster of huts around a parade ground.

Vessel Owners Sought

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police are attempting to locate the owners of the gillnetter Lucky Lady, found adrift Friday off Spanish Banks, in English Bay. The craft was towed ashore by an RCAF crashboat.

Writer Appeals Ruling

VANCOUVER (CP)—Notice of appeal was filed Friday against a court order striking out the defense of Ottawa writer Blair Fraser in a libel suit brought by Gordon S. Wismer, former B.C. attorney-general. The move was the latest in a suit based on a 1952 magazine article by Mr. Fraser. Mr. Fraser has refused to obey a court order ordering him to disclose his sources of information.

Drink Prices Shape

Prices of beer and wines in Victoria restaurants and hotels will probably follow those of Vancouver fairly closely, several anticipated operators indicated here yesterday.

Though none had made a final decision on price lists, one or two restaurant and hotel men said yesterday they would watch the levels of Vancouver price and follow them if they proved successful.

Early estimates on Vancouver prices were: Burgundy (sold by the bottle), $5 to $6; claret (domestic) 40 to 50 cents a glass; port, 20 to 50 cents a glass; sherry 20 to 50 cents a glass; champagne, $7 to $12 a bottle; and beer, 40 cents a bottle.

FIXING LIKELY

Proprietor of one large hotel here said dining room operators would probably "get together" on prices to prevent "cut-throat competition."

Prices of cocktails and drinks served under the lounge license (cocktail bars) in hotels, resorts, clubs and boats and trains, were not indicated. It is generally believed they will follow fairly closely the prices charged now in private clubs.

Patrols Seek Cause of Lull

HANOI (UP) — French patrols slogged out from Dien Bien Phu through knee-keep mud Friday to seek the cause of a lull which set off speculation that the Reds were holding the garrison hostage for bargaining at the Geneva conference.

Some military sources suggested that the Communist siege army could have overwhelmed Dien Bien Phu any time in the last two weeks. They suggested the decisive blow might have been withheld on orders from Moscow or Peiping to see what happened at Geneva.

The high command reported it was "quiet" at the fortress under siege for 49 days—an unprecedented announcement for the period.

Five raiding patrols, blackfaced and armed with burp guns, french knives and grenades, stabbed out to rattle the Communists and bring back information.

One ranged more than a mile from the isolated southern outpost called Isabelle without drawing Communist gunfire.

In other sectors the patrols clashed sharply with Red forward positions, especially machine gun nests. They brought back more than a score of Viet Minh dead to check for papers which might provide clues to rebel intentions.

The high command said all available French planes were ordered over Dien Bien Phu Friday to fly cover for transports dropping reinforcements and supplies to Brig.-Gen. Christian De Castries' garrison.

The all-out effort was mounted because no drops were possible Thursday. The monsoon rains were arriving in full fury, drenching northern Indo-China and turning the dust and clay of the mountain valley into a quagmire.

De Castries reported that some stocks were running low. At best he was hoarding ammunition for no more than three days of resistance to any full scale attack.

The aircraft carrier Belleau Wood, on loan from the United States and manned by French crewmen, arrived at Saigon Friday from France. It brought about a score of Helldiver and Hellcat naval planes for the hard-pressed air force. Later it will relieve the carrier "Arromanches" in Indo-Chinese waters.

Toll Increasing In Greek Quake

ATHENS (AP) — Greece's second major earthquake in less than a year brought shattering destruction and death in the central mountainous area Friday.

First official estimates said 150 were killed or injured and more than 25,000 made homeless. Hundreds of homes were shaken down like flimsy stacks of cards.

The stricken area apparently centred near the village of Granitsa, 135 miles northwest of Athens.

The town of Farsala was reported wiped out. The town is the site of the battle of Pharsalus in 48 BC, when Julius Caesar routed Pompey the Great.

The town of Sofadhes also was reported destroyed.

Three-quarters of Trikkala, a city of 27,800, was reported levelled.

Other towns hard hit were Karditsa, Lamia, and Volos.

Damage was widespread in rural areas where hundreds of houses collapsed in a cloud of dust.

Tremors of "catastrophic violence" continued to shake parts of Thessaly late Friday.

Disaster appeared to reach from the east coast inland to mountain country accessible only by donkey trail. Communication and rescue work was made more difficult by the fact it was a religious holiday. All shops and public buildings were closed and no newspapers were publishing.

Interior Minister Ioannis Nicolitsias said the quake was comparable only to the one in the Ionian Islands last August which claimed 600 to 1,000 lives and left 120,000 persons homeless.

Girl, 14, Unsnarls Traffic

A teen-age girl stepped in where many motorists feared to drive Friday and untangled a budding traffic jam.

The traffic light at Fort and Cook went out of commission about 6 p.m. The green light passing traffic up and down Fort refused to go on, leaving Fort Street motorists sitting at the intersection while Cook Street traffic passed back and forth in the normal manner.

Margaret Wallace, 14, saw this, ran home and phoned the city police about the situation, then ran back and took over.

When traffic officers arrived, Margaret was calmly passing traffic through the intersection with all the aplomb of a veteran police officer.

She stayed at her post until the officers had the light back in working order, then tarried just long enough to give her name and age—but no address.

A girl has to be careful these days.

Raids Via Canada Doubted

Air Defense Strong—Claxton

"An enemy would have to choose some other route" rather than fly over Canada to attack United States' potential," he said.

Minister Brooke Claxton said yesterday in an interview in Esquimalt.

Because tests of Canada's air defenses have proved even more effective than expected, "I think any enemy would have to take these into consideration," the minister said.

The minister inspected HMC Dockyard and HMCS Naden yesterday morning, and inspected cadets at graduation ceremonies at Royal Roads in the afternoon. He left for Ottawa by plane last night.

"The first objective of an enemy, if war should come, would be to knock out the United States' potential," he said.

"Neither the States nor Canada can think of any way to improve the defense arrangements between the two countries," he added.

'BEST POSSIBLE'

Nobody concerned with defense ever uses the word "adequate" to describe defenses, he said, but he indicated that defense authorities in both countries are satisfied that the present working arrangement is the best one possible.

Enlistment in Canada's three armed forces is up to the government's expectations, he said. "There are about 20,000 Canadians serving abroad in seven countries, and one out of every four is a veteran of Korea," he said.

NO PROSPECTS

The minister said there has been no recent change in the attitude of the defense department toward Esquimalt's demands for rebuilding Admirals Road, which is used largely by navy vehicles, according to Esquimalt council.

"Every province in Canada has asked for this sort of thing," he said. "But as far as I know we have never paid for roads except those essential to defense."

"Circumstances would have to be extraordinary before my department could consider paying for roads."

Talks on Canada-United States defense will be held in Washington next week by the defense minister and U.S. officials.

Mr. Claxton said he will make the trip with Governor-General Vincent Massey, May 3.

Mr. Massey will make the state visit to President Eisenhower as a return gesture for the visit to Ottawa of the U.S. chief executive. Mr. Claxton said he will mix business with the ceremonial side of the trip and talk with U.S. Defense Secretary Wilson and his colleagues.

'Probies' Awarded Caps

Capping ceremonies for the probationary class of nurses at Royal Jubilee Hospital were held last night. Here Marleen Brown of Creston, B.C., is capped by Miss L. Woodrow, director of nursing. Graduating class of 1954 will receive diplomas at graduating exercises at 8 p.m. Sunday in Royal Victoria Theatre, and all probationers not on duty at the time will be taken in buses to see the ceremonies in which they will share in 1957.

Fraser Holds Flood Threat

VANCOUVER (CP) — The slumbering Fraser River, which has twice risen to fear the economic heart from the farmers lining its banks, again looms as a threat this year.

And 250 miles east, the Columbia, also rolling south, lies as a silent menace as flood season approaches.

The key lies in the snow covering the mountains of central British Columbia—snow heavy with an unusually high water content.

One of the coolest West Coast Aprils in years has hindered the run-off which must come gradually to allow for normal drainage of the snow fields.

Aborigine Bows to Bombers

Posse Proves Persuasive

DARWIN, Australia (Reuters) —An Australian jail breaker decided this week that when the long arm of the law closes in with droves of fighter planes blazing away with machine guns, and flights of bombers showering high explosives, it's time to give up.

An aborigine killer who has been a fugitive from justice for two years, is back in jail here because he got mixed up in an air force exercise which he mistook for the greatest manhunt in the nation's history.

Jackie Brilayang, sentenced to 12 years for a killing during a reservation fight in 1951, had escaped from Darwin's Fanny Bay jail two years ago.

But apparently he thought the police were getting too tough when his hiding place in the remote wilds of northern Australia echoed to the rattle of machine-guns and the roar of bombs as the air force began to use this apparently deserted stretch of country as a target.

Jackie ran and kept running until he reached the main north-south road across Australia and sent a message to the police to come and get him.
